Kelly Suggestion on Underpass Refusal Is Backed by Council

Council Will Hold Meeting on $40,000 ForStreetProgram

Curfew Law Amendment Is Passed—Snow Claim of $41,394 Is Approved

Common Council action on a proposed additional $40,000 for city street work was deferred until a recessed meeting in two weeks last night so that an accounting of street work done to date under the original $75,000 appropriation may be submitted.

Other action favored a $5-a-day fee for city court jurors who would sit at day instead of night trials, approved a $41,394.41 snow removal claim for the 1951-52 winter season, referred to the corporation counsel a summons and complaint on a $75,000 lawsuit, and a proposal to combine city and county civilian defense offices.

To Amend Curfew Law

The aldermen also adopted a resolution by Eighth Ward Alderman John Dolan asking that a curfew law of 1906 be amended to comply with the recent grand jury recommendation that all children in the city (as in the county) be required to be at home by 11 p. m. if unattended by parents.

Dolan's resolution at first asked that the 11 p. m. curfew proposed by the grand jury be favored by the council and rigidly enforced.

Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly called a recess so that Deputy City Clerk Harry Seitz might obtain a record of the existing curfew. It provided that unattended children under 16 be at home by 9 p. m., in the spring and summer months and 8 p. m., during the rest of the year. The new proposal seconded by First Ward Alderman Hirschell Mayes, merely changes the time to 11 p. m. for the whole year.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk asked for the $40,000 for street work on request of the Board of Public Works explaining that about $18,000 remained of the original $75,000 appropriated.

He suggested that "Since we have progressed better than anticipated," and feel that street work should not be stopped at this time, immediate action would keep the program going.

Might Cost Less

Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent, in a letter, also indicated that some of the work may be done for less than the estimates submitted.

Alderman James Ryan, 10th Ward, complained that some streets had not been done in his ward for many years despite repeated requests, and Edwin Radel, Third Ward, argued that the aldermen should have "figures to show where the money went" on the work that has been done to date, before they approved more money for street work. He asked for the recessed meeting.

Radel arose to suggest the recessed meeting after Sixth Ward Alderman David Schechter moved adoption of a report on the $40,000 and before it was seconded by Alderman Golden.

A vote was taken on the question of the recessed meeting and Alderman Hirschell Mayes, First Ward, voted against it because he said he thought the money was needed at once if the work was to be done.

Alderman Benjamin Storms, second ward, the next to vote, however, said that while he took exception to Radel's remarks indicating that there was little to show for the money spent to date, he was in favor of the recessed meeting because he felt sure it would show accomplishment.

"I think the BPW has done a lot of work, and there's nothing to be ashamed of. The money was well spent, and I vote in favor of a recessed meeting in two weeks," Storms said.

Votes for Recess

Eighth Ward Alderman Martin Golden, who said he felt everything was "above board," also voted for the recessed meeting as did Alderman Robert Cullum, 12th ward, and the Republican members who had voted no later changed their vote for a unanimous approval of the recess.

Cullum said he doubted if any of the aldermen cover more territory in the city than he does and he mentioned the improve-

Alderman Storms Offers Resolution at Meeting to Give Corporation Counsel Action Basis—Workers, Police Are Commended

Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly's suggestion as acting mayor that the city refuse acceptance of the Broadway underpass from the state until it is made flood proof, was backed at last night's Common Council meeting by a resolution offered by Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms and unanimously adopted.

The Storms resolution said that since "construction of such underpass has resulted in a flooding condition which is hazardous," that the council refuse to accept it from the state "until such flooding condition is corrected."

It also authorized the corporation counsel to notify the state of the council's action and to demand "that such hazardous flooding condition be corrected immediately."

City Liability Seen

Before voting, Storms said he realized "everyone was happy when the Broadway project was completed," but this flooding has created a problem which should be met now, "before the city will have to solve it at a cost of several thousands of dollars."

Ninth Ward Alderman Martin W. Golden, who seconded the resolution, said the flooding was "truly a dangerous situation that might well leave the city with lawsuits."

Tenth Ward Alderman James M. Ryan said he was "in accord" with the sponsoring aldermen, and suggested that since a Greenkill avenue sanitary sewer condition appeared to be caused by the driving of piling during construction of the project, it might be well also to determine "how we stand on that."

Suggests Committee

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel suggested a committee from the council be appointed to confer with the corporation counsel and "sit in" on discussions of the problem, but Storms advised that his resolution was a preliminary move to obtain initial action on which the corporation counsel could report back.

Referring to Monday's flood conditions in the city, Radel wanted to know why public works department workmen spent time at the uptown (George Washington) school" when it was a Board of Education problem, and there was need for public works service elsewhere.

Homes Also Menaced

Alderman-at-Large Kelly said "homes were also menaced" in the area by flood conditions, and Alderman Abram Relyea, 11th ward, also mentioned the many telephone calls he had received for immediate action in the Elizabeth and Glen street areas.

"People were up in arms," he said, and in some instances it appeared as though they expected the public works men to be there almost before the storm started, and he concluded that "while this work does help the school, it also

New Market Move For Albany Ave. Is Taken in Council

Grand Union Is Reported Unofficially to Be Interested in Location

First steps toward the building of a modern super market on properties in the Albany and Madison avenue areas, were taken at last night's Common Council meeting when petitions for zoning changes were read and referred to the laws and rules committee.

The name of the national chain operator was not mentioned in the petitions, but unofficial reports indicated that the store is to be built by the Grand Union Company.

The petitions for zoning changes were by Harold Halwick and John W. Evans, and Martin & Moran, Inc.

Owner of Premises

Halwick and Evans said they are owners of a premises on Albany avenue now zoned for residential use only, and they had "contracted to sell to a national concern which contemplates building a modern super market."

The property is immediately adjacent to one zoned for business use and others within 500 feet from the land, from Roosevelt avenue to the city line at Wrentham street, on Albany avenue are mainly for business use, the petition said.

For the Martin & Moran petition, Frank L. Moran, president, said the firm is the owner of land formerly owned by John A. DeGasperis, fronting on Albany avenue and between Albany and Madison avenues. The major portion of this, it said, was in the business zone, but a strip about 100 feet deep and with 25 feet frontage along Madison avenue was still residential property.

R. E. Craft and J. W. Millard, local relators, were at the session as the petitions were introduced, but said nothing definite could be revealed until contracts were signed.

Byrd Plans No Part

Winchester, Va., Sept. 3 (AP)—Regardless of how he feels about the presidential election, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) apparently has no intention of taking part in any third party movement. There hasn't been any word so far on the presidential choice of the senior Virginia senator, a foe of the Truman administration and a Virginia delegate to the Democratic National Convention. Most observers believe Byrd will maintain his silence until after the November election without coming out for either the Democratic nominee, Adlai Stevenson, or the Republican candidate, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Hull Shows Improvement

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Naval Medical Center reported today that Cordell Hull is showing improvement but that his condition continues to be serious. The 80-year-old former secretary of state was taken to the Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., last Friday for treatment of a coronary thrombosis. A bulletin from the hospital this forenoon said: "Cordell Hull continues to show steady improvement. However, his condition continues to remain serious."

Chicago, Sept. 3 (AP)—Twenty-two persons were injured, none seriously, in a collision last night of two elevated trains operating at ground level in suburban Cicero. 818 Seek Release at Tokyo Jail

War Criminals Claim They Are Detained Illegally and Should Be Freed

Life-Termer Fukuchi Says He, Others Ask Liberty

Tokyo, Sept. 3 (AP)—Spokesmen for 818 minor Japanese war criminals in Tokyo's Sugamo prison today told foreign newspapermen in an unprecedented news conference they considered their sentences unreasonable, uncalled for, and illegal.

They asserted they should be released at once.

Later, one of 12 major war criminals serving life sentences in Sugamo said in an interview: "I hope we will get out, too."

Former Maj. Gen. Heruo Fukuchi, 52, was chief spokesman for the 818 Class B and C prisoners — military commanders and both military men and civilians arrested in areas where war crimes were committed.

He and 30 other prisoners sat on one side of a long table in a conference room of the prison. On the other side sat the reporters. The war criminals as well as reporters took notes on what was said.

Fukuchi, hollow cheeked and nervously tense, spoke with deliberation and feeling for the men convicted of war crimes and atrocities.

He said the prisoners should have been released when Japan regained her independence.

Question Is Asked

An Associated Press correspondent asked: "Do we understand correctly that you and your fellow prisoners consider that all your sentences were unduly severe, unreasonable and uncalled for?"

"That is correct," the general answered.

Then former Capt. Buichi Ono, onetime attorney with the Japanese judge advocate's department, said:

"With respect to the B and C class trials held in Yokohama and outside Japan, we feel they were not legal and were based on political considerations."

Addressing the newspapermen, Fukuchi, once on the Japanese Army Staff at Hong Kong, said:

"In view of the fact that the peace treaty is called a treaty of trust and reconciliation and since its object is to bring peace, I think a problem such as the prisoner problem—a problem of the aftermath of war—should have been disposed of with the

Ike Invades Dixie

Republican presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower, the first GOP nominee in history to invade the South on a campaign swing, waves to the crowd which greeted him in Atlanta, Ga. Ike lashed out at the Democrats for the first time in his campaign, calling the Truman administration a "top-to-bottom mess" created by men "too small for their jobs, too big for their breeches and too long in power." (NEA Telephoto)

Sets New Record

Miami Sees Peak Crowd on Hand to Hear Him Speak

By DON WHITEHEAD

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to the women of America today to throw themselves into the presidential campaign "to correct the things that are wrong with us."

The GOP presidential nominee's appeal to the women voters was made before a cheering crowd estimated at 9,000 gathered at the Tampa ball park.

Tampa followed the lead of Atlanta, Jacksonville and Miami in giving Eisenhower a rousing welcome on his sweep across Dixie that has been booming in such spectacular fashion.

"I am anxious to draw the spirit of women into the campaign I am trying to wage," Eisenhower said after he had been introduced by GOP National Committeewoman, Mrs. Helen Lieb.

Standing under a broiling sun on a bunting-draped platform at home plate, Eisenhower declared "we must recall the spiritual and moral values of our forefathers" in government.

He said he referred to the situation in Washington as a "mess" because "that's what the opposition calls it."

Difference in Parties

"There is a difference between the two parties," Eisenhower said. 'One is saddled with a mess. The other wants to clean it up."

Then he paid tribute to the civil service workers and said they must "hang their heads in shame" when they realize "that justice has been outraged in their agencies."

Turning to Webster's definition of the word mess, Eisenhower said it dealt mostly with food. But then he said:

"Mess can mean a confused, inharmonious, disagreeable mixture of things, a medley, a hodgepodge, a situation resulting from blunder or misunderstanding. A muddle. A blotch."

Eisenhower urged the people to take part in their local politics, to have influence in their government and in naming the kind of government they want.

Seeks 2-Party South

"I am down here," he said, "to help if I can, make certain there are two parties in the south." This statement brought cheers and applause from the crowd.

"Don't you be taken for granted," he said. "Please make every single individual who wants to serve you in public office come before you and say what's in his heart and mind. Don't let him take you for granted."

The reception given to Ike along his route posed the question of just how solid the Democraic south will be in the November election.

Gets Big Ovations

Miami, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower's sweep across Dixie was booming in such spectacular fashion today that it posed the question of just how solid the Democratic South will be in the November election.

The GOP presidential nominee was drawing huge crowds at every stop along his campaign route. But none could say whether it was due to personal charm or political appeal—or a combination of the two.

About 150,000 persons turned out to greet Eisenhower yesterday in Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla., and here in Miami.

There were prospects of more big turnouts today in Tampa, Fla., Birmingham, Ala., and Little Rock, Ark.—the last stops on his two-day, 3400-mile journey from New York into the South.

Cheers Are Spontaneous

The thousands who heard Eisenhower speak burst into cheers and rebel yells when he accused the Truman administration of trying

Engineer Doubts Russian A-Bomb, Gives His Reasons

Proctor Thinks Explosions Were Premature in Effort to Produce Atomic Item

Chicago, Sept. 3 (AP)—"I don't believe Russia has one single atom bomb," Carlton S. Proctor, prominent New York engineer who has worked in Russia, declared today.

"I think every one of the atomic explosions in Russia was just a premature explosion, in an effort to produce a bomb."

Proctor is president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, one of 64 engineering societies celebrating a Centennial of Engineering opening here today.

He gave his views on Russia during an interview telling of U. S. engineers' vast accomplishments in the last 100 years.

(The White House has announced three atomic explosions in Russia, referring to the second one as "another atomic bomb," without amplifying further. Other sources have estimated Russia has a stockpile of 100 or many more A-bombs by now.)

SchoolBus, 12 In Accident NearConnelly

A serious accident was narrowly avoided about 8:30 a. m. today when a school bus carrying 11 students bound for Kingston High School was in collision with a truck on Millbrook road between Port Ewen and Connelly.

The bus, owned by the Shaver Bus Company of Port Ewen, was coming down grade around a steep curve when its driver, Donald Edwin Shaver, 22, saw a pickup truck ahead backing out of a driveway, Identification Officer Earl Conro of the Ulster county sheriff's office reported.

He said that Shaver, a resident of Port Ewen, applied his brakes but they failed to hold and the bus struck the rear of the truck, careened to the left side of the road and came to rest wedged against a light pole.

None Is Hurt

None of the 11 students, all residents of Eddyville and New Salem, was injured, Conro said. He said that the bus had just passed through Eddyville and New Salem and was on its way to Connelly when the accident occurred. Connelly was the last stop on the way to the high school, he stated.

The pickup truck, operated by Arthur Windram, 66, of Millbrook road, Port Ewen, received minor damage, Conro reported. He said that Windram complained of a sore shoulder. The bus was damaged in the right front end and side.

Cites Driver's Skill

Conro said that the skill of the driver in wedging the bus against the pole had doubtless saved a worse accident. If the vehicle had not come to rest against the pole it might have plunged over a steep embankment a few feet beyond, he stated.

The bus, a 1937 Mack, had

His Counsel Asks Right to Examine Minutes of Grand Jury; 59 Cases Presented

The Samuel Schifano first degree murder case, which is the first case on a criminal calendar of 59 cases presented Tuesday afternoon by District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn at the opening of the September term of County court, was postponed until next Monday pending a motion to examine the grand jury minutes.

Senator Harry Gittleson of New York city, who appears with Charles H. Gaffney for the defendant, has filed papers in a motion to examine the grand jury minutes. That motion will be disposed of prior to next Monday at 11 a. m. when the case may again be moved for trial by Bruhn.

Schifano is accused of having killed Mrs. Emelia Nusca, 52, in her apartment three miles west of Highland. She and Schifano were found in the apartment severely cut and nearby was a knife and hatchet. Mrs. Nusca died at St. Francis's Hospital Poughkeepsie, June 23.

Other Cases Put Over

Other cases on the criminal calendar also were moved to Monday, Sept. 8, at 2 p. m. while several in which the grand jury has recommended disposition under the Youthful Offender statute will be disposed of this week at chambers.

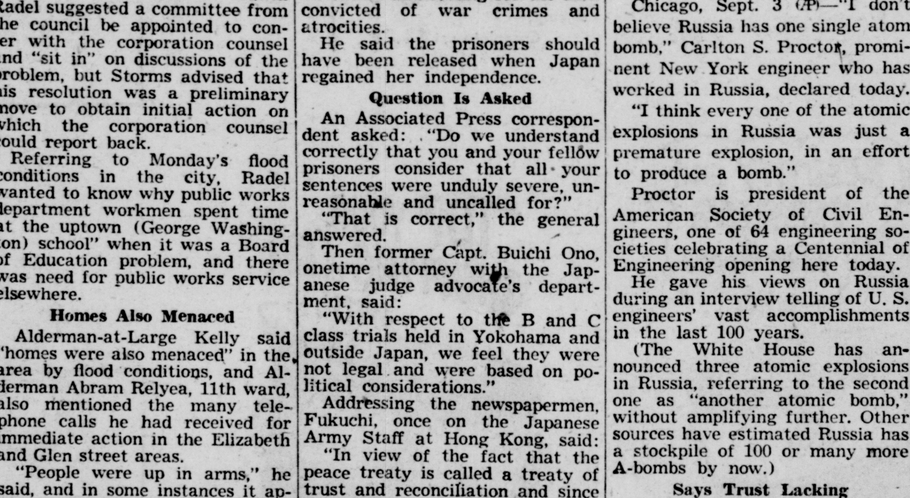

Court recessed to chambers, without court officers, and the jurors were excused until 2 p. m. Monday, Sept. 8.

Eighteen defendants were arraigned Tuesday afternoon before County Judge John M. Cashin under sealed indictments. In each case a plea of innocent was entered.

Stevenson Might Ignore Attacks Upon His Record

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 3 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson, drafting a major speech on farm policy, made no immediate reply today to a direct attack on his record in office in Illinois, and there were no indications that he planned an answer.

His strategy, a campaign lieutenant said, will be to ignore Republican accusations and concentrate on a series of "foundation speeches" to set forth his views on what he considers the major issues.

Stevenson's assistants had no comment on a speech last night by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois before the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican Clubs. The Republican Senator, speaking within a stone's throw of the governor's office in Springfield, asserted:

"Illinois leads all the states in the union for the gambling racket. When it comes to cleaning up corruption, I'm not very much impressed by Stevenson's record."

It was the most concerted attack to be leveled at Stevenson since he became the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

A member of his staff said, "I doubt if he even knows what Dirksen said, let alone making any plans to reply."

Instead of answering Republican attacks, Stevenson will concentrate on "getting the country acquainted with his views," one of his aides said. The defense of the Democratic Administration will be left mainly to President Tru-

Curfew Law Amendment Is Passed—Snow Claim of $41,394 Is Approved

Common Council action on a proposed additional $40,000 for city street work was deferred until a recessed meeting in two weeks last night so that an accounting of street work done to date under the original $75,000 appropriation may be submitted.

Other action favored a $5-a-day fee for city court jurors who would sit at day instead of night trials, approved a $41,394.41 snow removal claim for the 1951-52 winter season, referred to the corporation counsel a summons and complaint on a $75,000 lawsuit, and a proposal to combine city and county civilian defense offices.

To Amend Curfew Law

The aldermen also adopted a resolution by Eighth Ward Alderman John Dolan asking that a curfew law of 1906 be amended to comply with the recent grand jury recommendation that all children in the city (as in the county) be required to be at home by 11 p. m. if unattended by parents.

Dolan's resolution at first asked that the 11 p. m. curfew proposed by the grand jury be favored by the council and rigidly enforced.

Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly called a recess so that Deputy City Clerk Harry Seitz might obtain a record of the existing curfew. It provided that unattended children under 16 be at home by 9 p. m., in the spring and summer months and 8 p. m., during the rest of the year. The new proposal seconded by First Ward Alderman Hirschell Mayes, merely changes the time to 11 p. m. for the whole year.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk asked for the $40,000 for street work on request of the Board of Public Works explaining that about $18,000 remained of the original $75,000 appropriated.

He suggested that "Since we have progressed better than anticipated," and feel that street work should not be stopped at this time, immediate action would keep the program going.

Might Cost Less

Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent, in a letter, also indicated that some of the work may be done for less than the estimates submitted.

Alderman James Ryan, 10th Ward, complained that some streets had not been done in his ward for many years despite repeated requests, and Edwin Radel, Third Ward, argued that the aldermen should have "figures to show where the money went" on the work that has been done to date, before they approved more money for street work. He asked for the recessed meeting.

Radel arose to suggest the recessed meeting after Sixth Ward Alderman David Schechter moved adoption of a report on the $40,000 and before it was seconded by Alderman Golden.

A vote was taken on the question of the recessed meeting and Alderman Hirschell Mayes, First Ward, voted against it because he said he thought the money was needed at once if the work was to be done.

It also authorized the corporation counsel to notify the state of the council's action and to demand "that such hazardous flooding condition be corrected immediately."

Before voting, Storms said he realized "everyone was happy when the Broadway project was completed," but this flooding has created a problem which should be met now, "before the city will have to solve it at a cost of several thousands of dollars."

Schifano's Murder Trial Postponed Until Sept. 8

SchoolBus, 12 In Accident NearConnelly

A serious accident was narrowly avoided about 8:30 a. m. today when a school bus carrying 11 students bound for Kingston High School was in collision with a truck on Millbrook road between Port Ewen and Connelly.

The bus, owned by the Shaver Bus Company of Port Ewen, was coming down grade around a steep curve when its driver, Donald Edwin Shaver, 22, saw a pickup truck ahead backing out of a driveway, Identification Officer Earl Conro of the Ulster county sheriff's office reported.

He said that Shaver, a resident of Port Ewen, applied his brakes but they failed to hold and the bus struck the rear of the truck, careened to the left side of the road and came to rest wedged against a light pole.

None Is Hurt

None of the 11 students, all residents of Eddyville and New Salem, was injured, Conro said. He said that the bus had just passed through Eddyville and New Salem and was on its way to Connelly when the accident occurred. Connelly was the last stop on the way to the high school, he stated.

The pickup truck, operated by Arthur Windram, 66, of Millbrook road, Port Ewen, received minor damage, Conro reported. He said that Windram complained of a sore shoulder. The bus was damaged in the right front end and side.

Cites Driver's Skill

Conro said that the skill of the driver in wedging the bus against the pole had doubtless saved a worse accident. If the vehicle had not come to rest against the pole it might have plunged over a steep embankment a few feet beyond, he stated.

The bus, a 1937 Mack, had

His Counsel Asks Right to Examine Minutes of Grand Jury; 59 Cases Presented

The Samuel Schifano first degree murder case, which is the first case on a criminal calendar of 59 cases presented Tuesday afternoon by District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn at the opening of the September term of County court, was postponed until next Monday pending a motion to examine the grand jury minutes.

Senator Harry Gittleson of New York city, who appears with Charles H. Gaffney for the defendant, has filed papers in a motion to examine the grand jury minutes. That motion will be disposed of prior to next Monday at 11 a. m. when the case may again be moved for trial by Bruhn.

Schifano is accused of having killed Mrs. Emelia Nusca, 52, in her apartment three miles west of Highland. She and Schifano were found in the apartment severely cut and nearby was a knife and hatchet. Mrs. Nusca died at St. Francis's Hospital Poughkeepsie, June 23.

Other Cases Put Over

Other cases on the criminal calendar also were moved to Monday, Sept. 8, at 2 p. m. while several in which the grand jury has recommended disposition under the Youthful Offender statute will be disposed of this week at chambers.

Court recessed to chambers, without court officers, and the jurors were excused until 2 p. m. Monday, Sept. 8.

Eighteen defendants were arraigned Tuesday afternoon before County Judge John M. Cashin under sealed indictments. In each case a plea of innocent was entered.

Barney Daniel Saunders, Jr., 18, Brooklyn, who was charged with John Leonti and Davis Regan, both 19, Brooklyn, with entrance

Sets New Record

Miami Sees Peak Crowd on Hand to Hear Him Speak

By DON WHITEHEAD

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to the women of America today to throw themselves into the presidential campaign "to correct the things that are wrong with us."

The GOP presidential nominee's appeal to the women voters was made before a cheering crowd estimated at 9,000 gathered at the Tampa ball park.

Tampa followed the lead of Atlanta, Jacksonville and Miami in giving Eisenhower a rousing welcome on his sweep across Dixie that has been booming in such spectacular fashion.

"I am anxious to draw the spirit of women into the campaign I am trying to wage," Eisenhower said after he had been introduced by GOP National Committeewoman, Mrs. Helen Lieb.

Standing under a broiling sun on a bunting-draped platform at home plate, Eisenhower declared "we must recall the spiritual and moral values of our forefathers" in government.

He said he referred to the situation in Washington as a "mess" because "that's what the opposition calls it."

Difference In Parties

"There is a difference between the two parties," Eisenhower said. 'One is saddled with a mess. The other wants to clean it up."

Then he paid tribute to the civil service workers and said they must "hang their heads in shame" when they realize "that justice has been outraged in their agencies."

Turning to Webster's definition of the word mess, Eisenhower said it dealt mostly with food. But then he said:

"Mess can mean a confused, inharmonious, disagreeable mixture of things, a medley, a hodgepodge, a situation resulting from blunder or misunderstanding. A muddle. A blotch."

Eisenhower urged the people to take part in their local politics, to have influence in their government and in naming the kind of government they want.

Seeks 2-Party South

"I am down here," he said, "to help if I can, make certain there are two parties in the south." This statement brought cheers and applause from the crowd.

"Don't you be taken for granted," he said. "Please make every single individual who wants to serve you in public office come before you and say what's in his heart and mind. Don't let him take you for granted."

The reception given to Ike along his route posed the question of just how solid the Democraic south will be in the November election.

Gets Big Ovations

Miami, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower's sweep across Dixie was booming in such spectacular fashion today that it posed the question of just how solid the Democratic South will be in the November election.

The GOP presidential nominee was drawing huge crowds at every stop along his campaign route. But none could say whether it was due to personal charm or political appeal—or a combination of the two.

About 150,000 persons turned out to greet Eisenhower yesterday in Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla., and here in Miami.

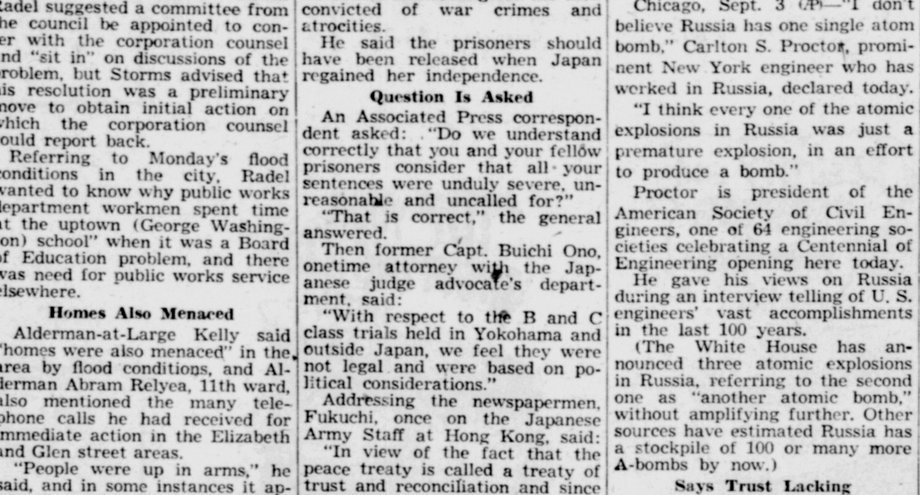

There were prospects of more big turnouts today in Tampa, Fla., Birmingham, Ala., and Little Rock, Ark.—the last stops on his two-day, 3400-mile journey from New York into the South.

Cheers Are Spontaneous

The thousands who heard Eisenhower speak burst into cheers and rebel yells when he accused the Truman administration of trying

Another School Year Begins in Kingston

Students registered yesterday at Kingston High School and other public schools, but the sun and humidity found few lingering after the dismissal bell was sounded. Figuratively, however, they have turned their backs upon summer. This group leaving KHS looks pretty happy, though. Must be their schedules were much to their liking. (Freeman photo)

Stevenson Might Ignore Attacks Upon His Record

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 3 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson, drafting a major speech on farm policy, made no immediate reply today to a direct attack on his record in office in Illinois, and there were no indications that he planned an answer.

His strategy, a campaign lieutenant said, will be to ignore Republican accusations and concentrate on a series of "foundation speeches" to set forth his views on what he considers the major issues.

Stevenson's assistants had no comment on a speech last night by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois before the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican Clubs. The Republican Senator, speaking within a stone's throw of the governor's office in Springfield, asserted:

"Illinois leads all the states in the union for the gambling racket. When it comes to cleaning up corruption, I'm not very much impressed by Stevenson's record."

It was the most concerted attack to be leveled at Stevenson since he became the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

A member of his staff said, "I doubt if he even knows what Dirksen said, let alone making any plans to reply."

Instead of answering Republican attacks, Stevenson will concentrate on "getting the country acquainted with his views," one of his aides said. The defense of the Democratic Administration will be left mainly to President Tru-

Convict's Trial Opens at Carmel

Carmel, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Donald H. Snyder, 22, went on trial yesterday as the convict escapee who stabbed a nine-year-old girl hostage to death last June.

Putnam County District Attorney Fred A. Dickinson said it would take several days to pick a jury in the first degree murder trial because feeling is running high over the case.

The victim, Betty June Arnold of Mahopac, was slain as police closed in on Snyder and captured him outside the girl's home. He had seized the child as a hostage after fleeing Green Haven State Prison where he was serving 2½ to 5 years for auto theft.

"How do you choose what to play for in this hand?" asks a Danbury correspondent. "When I played the hand, I won the first trick with the ace of clubs, drew trumps, and tried for a 3-3 club break. When this failed I led a diamond from dummy, hoping that East held the ace.

"He didn't, as you can see, and I lost the slam. My wife told me later that I could have ruffed out the queen of hearts. But how was I to know?"

It isn't necessary to choose a particular line of play in this hand. If you time the tricks carefully you can play for everything.

Correct play is to win the first trick with the ace of clubs and lead out four rounds of trumps, discarding a diamond from the dumy. The fourth trump does no particular good in this case, but South can well afford it, and it may persuade one of the opponents that he is being squeezed.

South next cashes the ace and king of hearts and enters dummy with the king of clubs to ruff a heart. If the queen of hearts drops, the slam is home.

If the queen of hearts does not drop, South leads his last club to dummy's queen in the hope that the suit will break 3-3. If so, the slam is home.

If South is unlucky both in hearts and in clubs, he has lost nothing, since he is in the dummy, and can now lead a diamond towards his king. Hence, he will make his slam if the queen of hearts drops, or if the clubs break, or if the ace of diamonds is in the East hand.

LOOK OUT FOR CAMPAIGN VOWS

We may be hearing soon some promises—however vague—about cuts in income taxes, cuts in government spending. And it would make nice reading. But before buying any such campaign promises—however vague—it might be a good idea to take a look at the glum, gray, but solid figures.

The government this year will spend about $85 to $90 billion. Last year it spent approximately $71 billion.

Of the $85 to $90 billion to be spent this year, about $56 billion will be for defense. And agreed-on and contemplated defense expenditures for the next five years will total at least $250 billion.

The qualification "at least" has significance if only as it covers the revamping of our military forces in line with the latest scientific improvements.

For instance, the B-36 bomber. Only about three years ago that giant arcraft was about the hottest card we held in the international air defense game. Today the B-36 is virtually obsolete.

It hasn't even been used in Korea, and chances are it will never see combat. Reason: the development of jet bombers by England and other countries. That same development will have to be made by our own Air Force, and it will cost lots of money.

Then, there's the atomic-powered submarine. We already have one near completion. If it's successful, and eventually it almost certainly will be, our whole submarine fleet will have to be revamped atomwise.

How extensively atomic energy will be applied to powering our other machines of war is anybody's guess. But the field seems at this time to be pretty wide open. And the cost of any such wholesale revamping as that is at this time almost incalculable.

The whole broad area of military electronics—radar, sonar, electric aiming and firing devices, and all the rest—are still largely in the development stage. Further improvements are coming along all the time. And they all cost money. Lots of it.

In fact top military men, speaking of the current costly revolution in fighting machines and weapons, estimate we may very well go on paying out at least $50 billion a year for defense for the next 20 years.

And when you stop to think that right now over 62 per cent of our annual expenditures are going for defense, it's pretty hard to see where any sizable reductions are going to be made—in spending, and consequently in taxes.

MEDIOCRITY PREFERRED

The year 1952 will find it hard to equal 1852 in one respect. A century ago Americans looked up to two towering statesmen, Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. Before the year was out both had died. The political world seemed empty. No one in public life seemed even to approach them. William H. Seward and Salmon P. Chase, who 10 years later added distinction to Lincoln's cabinet, were just beginning to attain national fame, and Lincoln himself was unknown outside of Illinois.

Clay was a Kentuckian, the youngest American to become Speaker of the House of Representatives, attaining the office at 34. He held the post for 10 years, a record which stood until surpassed by Sam Rayburn, the present Speaker. He was senator from Kentucky for many years, first elected while under the constitutional age of 30. He ran three times for president, and many hearts were broken when his third and most nearly successful attempt came to nothing. The compromise on slavery which he repeatedly put through prolonged the unity of the nation until 1861, and gave the North enough strength to win the war. Few Americans have done so much for their country.

Webster, from Massachusetts, was a surpassing lawyer and orator, whose speeches were studied by every schoolboy. He ranks with John Quincy Adams as our greatest secretary of state.

Clay and Webster were alike in this. Both longed for the presidency and failed to attain it. Later generations have wondered that so many mediocrities were preferred to these two surpassing statesmen. Since then this preference of voters for mediocrity over statesmanship has unfortunately been repeated many times.

OIL IN IRAN

W. Alton Jones of Cities Service Company is in Iran to determine whether Americans can operate the Iranian oil industry. That should have been done at least two years ago. By a mistaken state department policy of supporting British colonialism throughout the world, the United States has alienated countries that are as important to this country as Great Britain is.

Iran is one of them. It is the keystone, as Persia has always been, to the Middle East. If Soviet Russia conquered Iran (Persia), it would control Iraq, all the Arab countries, including Syria and Egypt and Israel. The independence of Pakistan would be lessened.

If Soviet Russia captured Iranian oil, its military situation would be strengthened. It is occasionally suggested that the Russians could not do the engineering necessary to deliver Iranian oil. This is wishful thinking. Soviet Russia has, in recent years, performed feats of engineering that would be a credit to any country. It is not sound thinking to underestimate Russian strength and ability. No enemy was ever defeated by a country that whistled in the dark.

Iran has no desire to be conquered by Soviet Russia, but it also has no wish to be an economic colony of Great Britain.

Were great statesmen at the helm either in the United States or Great Britain, American companies would have stepped in quickly, as soon as the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company was expelled. Had that happened, the Tudeh (Communist) party would not have been enabled to gain strength because of the frightfully deepening poverty of the people. Our companies were invited to come to Iran on straight management contracts and were not permitted to do that by a colonially-minded state department. Today, they go in late, but fortunately not too late.

One of the factors in the change of policy is the decision of the International Court of Justice at The Hague which rejected the British claims. The British contentions were disallowed by the court. The London "Times," in its news story on the subject, said:

"The Persians may . . . claim that the last restrictions on their freedom of action vis-a-vis the oil industry have thus been removed. The (Anglo-Iranian Oil Company) on the other hand, may seek arbitration again under the terms of the 1933 concession agreement."

Iran would not have needed this decision were it not that while the Persions feared Soviet Russia, they were boycotted by the United States. If Dean Acheson and the British Foreign Office believed that they could bring the Persians to their knees by poverty, disorder, and the rise of the Tudeh party, they did not understand a nation that was a vast power before Alexander the Great appeared upon the scene of world history.

These older nations need to be reappraised in terms of modern history. They had lost centuries of power, but they have lost none of their traditions of human dignity which they interpret after their own fashion. Perhaps we are beginning to understand something of that in Korea and China. President Truman and Dean Acheson and George Marshall apparently thought that we would conquer Korea with a spit ball but we have been nailed down there in a talkfest that has lasted 14 months.

Similarly, the British thought that they could monopolize the China trade by swiftly recognizing the government of Mao Tze-tung and by acting as a propagandist against Chiang Kai-shek in this country. Mao Tze-tung has not yet, after nearly three years, recognized Great Britain.

Once these ancient peoples learn to use our tools, our advantage over them is lost. For they apply to those tools an historic perspective and a moral criterion which the pragmatic West rejects for them. The historic criterion is that that country which acts first always has the advantage; the moral criterion is that a people has an inalienable right to its own way of life, to its own form of government and to the fruits of its own land.

Colonialism is dead. It is dead in Asia and in Africa. It is dead in the hearts of the lowliest people. It was dead before World War II started. The tragedy is that the Western countries never recognized the end when it actually happened and therefore increased the bitterness against them.

Throughout our history, up to the days of George Marshall and Dean Acheson, the American people and government opposed colonialism. They reversed our policy after colonialism was dead.

ALLERGY IN CHILDREN

Our allergists tell us that we are all allergic or sensitive to some food or foods but, except for an occasional stomach upset or an attack of hives or eczema, we are unaware of this allergic tendency.

However, when children are allergic to foods and have disturbances of the stomach and small intestine, the family doctor or an allergist should be consulted so that the health of the child, threatened by these many upsets, may be maintained.

In The Journal of Allergy, St. Louis, Dr. J. H. Fries describes studies of 30 allergic children, ranging in age from four to 14 years, who had repeatedly had stomach and intestinal disturbances in the form of nausea, vomiting and abdominal distress shortly after eating offending foods.

About a week after X-ray control study with barium, sulfate and water, a similar study was made, using barium sulfate and water to which the offending allergen (the food causing the symptoms) was added without the knowledge of the patient. Previous trials had revealed the amount of the allergen that would be needed to produce a pronounced disturbace of the stomach and intestine. The amounts varied from 2 to 12 cc. (about ½ to 3 or 4 teaspoons).

In the control series (none of the allergen used) the barium began to leave the stomach immediately or within ten minutes after being swallowed. In the series in which the allergen was used, a delay of 20 minutes or longer in the passing of the allergen and the barium mixture from the stomach was observed in 20 of the 28 children who were studied by fluoroscopy (X-ray).

In some instances there was persistent or intermittent narrowing of the pylorus (tube carrying food from the stomach to small intestine which narrowing caused pain in abdomen. In addition to the delay of food passing from the stomach, the stomach movements (which mix food with stomach digestive juice) were lessened in strength. In addition to pain and distress, food up to per cent in the stomach in some cases at the end of six hours, which is the longest time food should remain in a normal stomach.

The thought, then, is that children with upset stomach and intestine should be examined by X-ray (fluoroscope) for allergy.

Allergy

Being allergic to various foods and other substances such as feathers, dust, pollen, dandruff, etc., can cause many upsetting symptoms. C'mon Now, Big Boy, Allez Oop!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

STANLEY ANDREWS

Washington — There are many weapons which the free world can use to fight Communist aggression—military, political and economic weapons. But I believe history may well demonstrate that the most effective weapon we have in the struggle against Communism is the point 4 program.

Like most things of fundamental greatness, point 4 is very simple. It helps people to help themselves — by teaching and sharing America's scientific knowledge and technical skills with the peoples of the underdeveloped areas of the world.

Point 4 is not a product of our defense effort and it is not a substitute for defense, but point 4 is no less a source of strength for the free world.

Some of the countries with which the U. S. is cooperating through the point 4 program lie directly in the path of Soviet expansion. In most of these underdeveloped areas the threat of Communism is not a military threat, and it cannot be met with military measures.

Guns are no defense against poverty, ignorance, and unrest. In the underdeveloped areas the only sure defense against the spread of Communism and other forms of tyranny is a powerful, concentrated attack on disease and hunger and their evil consequences.

Point 4 is our weapon for this attack.

People-to-People Program

Point 4 is a new kind of diplomacy. Point 4 diplomats are dungaree and blue jeans diplomats —teachers, health officers, engineers, farm-demonstration agents who work directly with the people in the villages and on the farms.

Point 4 is a people-to-people program. U. S. technicians working with technicians of other countries are not concerned with political problems. In the midst of anti-U. S. disturbances in Iran, American and Iranian technicians continued to work side by side, trying to do a job that means more food, clean water, lower infant mortality, fewer deaths of mothers in childbirth.

Our work with the peoples of the point 4 countries is very similar, in fact, to your own people-to-people efforts, Drew Pearson—the Friendship Train, the Tide of Toys, and the letter-writing campaign between the people of Italian descent in the United States and their relatives in Italy which helped swing the 1947 Italian elections for democracy.

Point 4 has been called idealistic. If Point 4 is idealism, it is hard-headed, practical idealism. There are sound economic reasons behind Point 4. Rising national income, more productive agriculture, and greater industrial activity make other nations better customers for United States' products and commodities. They create markets for American businessmen and jobs for American workers.

Beyond self-interest, the motives for Point 4 are embedded deeply in our American democratic tradition.

The peoples of the underveloped areas of the world—in Asia, Africa, the Middle East, Latin America — are awakening after centuries of impotence and subjection to outside domination. In the 18th century they were largely passed over by the industrial revolution and the political revolutions of France and America. Even the most common-place measures we take our health and sanitation are unknown to millions of them. Hundreds of millions cannot read or write and have never known the use of the ballot.

The billion human souls in these underveloped areas are waking up to the potentialities of life in the 20th century. Many of them have recently gained national independence. They are learning that hunger, disease and ignorance need not be their everlasting heritage.

It is in the tradition and the history of America that we help them. Point 4 is the vehicle on which scientific knowledge, technical inventions and material progress become traveling companions with our ideals, our hopes and aspirations for achieving real brotherhood among men.

Accomplishments of Program

What has Point 4 accomplished? More than 1,000 TCA technicians are overseas working with some 20,000 Nationals in 35 countries. The native "counter parts" of our Point 4 workers are being taught the skills and knowledge of American technicians. For the basic principle of Point 4 is to train the peoples of the participating countries so that each country can take over its own programs.

For example, the Etawah agricultural project in India is now run entirely by Indians. In Liberia, Frank Pinder, an extension agent from Florida, has helped the Liberian farmers produce a cash crop by providing 24 cocoa seeds for two cents. Point 4 workers have reduced crop losses in Lebanon by showing the Lebanese Citrus farmers modern ways of picking, shipping and marketing their crops. In Ecuador, Colombia and other Latin American countries health workers have almost eliminated the dread tropical disease yaws. A new disease-resistant rubber tree has been developed in Latin America. Malaria is being brought under control in the Near East.

Perhaps I should close this guest column with a prediction on "the shape of things to come." I am willing to predict that the American people and the peoples of the free world will turn more and more in the years to come to the Point 4 principle not only as a potent weapon against communism, but because technical assistance is the "diplomacy of the future." Even the Russians are imitating Point 4 while their propaganda attacks it.

And one more prediction:

Buz Sawyer, the famed cartoon-strip character who is helping fight the locust plague in Iran will trap the blonde Russian agent, kill the locusts, and discover uranium in southern Asia.

Saner Meanings of Stevenson Address Seen Delighting U. S. Labor Leaders

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 3—Governor Stevenson, by the artful use of phrases, gave the general public the impression that he would do an even-handed job as between management and labor, but actually the nation's labor leaders are delighted with the inner meanings and implications of his Labor Day speech which they recognize so clearly.

For what the Democratic nominee actually did was to accept 100 per cent the demands of the labor-union leaders in connection with the proposed rewriting of the Taft-Hartley Law. He did this by embracing desirable principles that everybody understands and then outlining technical proposals that only the labor lawyers and industrial relations experts understand. Careful examination of the Stevenson proposals shows that the Democratic nominee has really moved over completely to the "left" on the labor issue.

Thus, Governor Stevenson has agreed to eliminate from the new law any ban on "unfair labor practices" by unions except the two which they themselves for some time now have told congressional committees they would accept — a ban on jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts.

Mr. Stevenson comes out for the "closed shop" device — now prohibited—which means a worker wouldn't be able hereafter to apply for a job in free America, or keep it, unless he accepts union rule. The employer would be bound by such a law to discharge any man whose views or activities the union officers disapprove. The language of union constitutions is very broad in giving to union officers the power to expel members they dislike.

Then Governor Stevenson would eliminate any injunction as against labor unions but would retain the use of the injunction against employers. He would turn the clock back to the old one-sided Wagner Law. He would legalize compulsory union membership. He would make it possible again for threats by strong-arm squads and intimidation by union organizers to coerce the workers into the union and yet go unpunished. He would restore the conditions from which the Taft-Hartley Law emancipated the American workingman. He would give America a real "slave labor law."

Now, maybe Governor Stevenson himself didn't intend to imply any of these things, but whoever prepares the data for his speeches certainly gave him the CIO line and he swallowed it. Here are some of the misleading statements in the Stevenson speech, which was far more jumbled than it appeared on surface:

First, Governor Stevenson, in his widely published text as released in advance of delivery, says the "Taft-Hartley Act, like the Wagner Act before it, prohibits certain types of unfair labor practices by companies or unions."

That statement is factually wrong 100 per cent. The Wagner Act did not prohibit any unfair labor practices by unions. It merely prohibited such practices by employers. That's why it was a one-sided law.

Second, Governor Stevenson says the Taft-Hartley Act revived the "labor injunction." He opposes the use of the injunction to stop "unfair labor practices" committed by unions. He would retain court injunctions only as a means of stopping employers from committing "unfair labor practices."

Third, the governor says, "it is only common sense to acknowledge that we must forbid such practices as jurisdictional strikes and strikes or boycotts attempting to force an employer to deal with one union when another has been certified as the representative of his employees."

And how would the government enforce this without getting from the courts an injunction against a union that violated the law? Surely it is too sweeping a statement to say that a new labor-management law can be written without the use of the injunction process as a means of enforcement against unions and employers alike.

Fourth, the governor says a lot about "voluntary settlement of strikes" but wants nevertheless a law against strikes that "threaten our national safety." He says of such a law:

"Its purpose should be to keep these cases out of the White House, if possible."

When the reader notes that sentence, he agrees that this is something everybody wants, but the governor immediately contradicts the concept in the next sentence when he says:

"But the Congress should give the President a choice of procedures when voluntary agreement proves impossible; seizure provisions geared to the circumstances . . . "

Among the "choices" which Governor Stevenson enumerated is "a recommendation of settlement terms." The mere presence of this in a series of "choices" in the same law that provides for presidential intervention pushes the labor problem right to the doorstep of the White House for "settlement." This is exactly what happened in the steel case. Once President Truman had seized the steel plants, he recommended "terms of settlement" and actually tried to put them into effect when the Supreme Court of the U. S. stopped him because he had no law.

Governor Stevenson would provide the President with a law that would enable him to dictate terms of settlement after the plants are seized. This is compulsory arbitration placed in the hands of a politician. For, whatever Governor Stevenson may say about the "political inspiration" behind the Taft-Hartley Act, there certainly was plenty of "political inspiration" behind what Mr. Truman did for his allies in the CIO in the recent steel seizure.

Fifth, the Democratic nominee, in coming out in effect for the "closed shop," gives as an excuse for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley provisions the allegation that the "closed shop" ban in the present law isn't respected. He says:

"Today several thousand employers and several million employes are operating under bootleg agreements in flagrant violation of the statute."

A conspiracy by two or more persons to violate any law is a federal crime. Why hasn't President Truman's Department of Justice prosecuted the unions and employers who, Governor Stevenson says, are violating the law?

The answer is that Mr. Truman himself has publicly denounced the Taft-Hartley Act and, although requested by both houses of Congress to use it, has refused. That same spirit of nullification has spread throughout the labor world. Because the President of the United States has refused to order the Taft-Hartley Act enforced, the Democratic nominee now cites the resultant conditions as his main reason for "repeal."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

As I was waiting for the bus to work this morning, George Spelvin, American, pulled up at the traffic light and said: "Hey, jump in here I want to ask you something. What's the idea beefing because guys like this Goldsmith, the kapok dragon of the Waldorf Tower and his letter-head societies, get up slush funds to knock off candidates in Wisconsin and Nevada and then you raise money for Joe McCarthy in Wisconsin. You talk about outsiders horning in. What about horning in yourself?"

"I am glad you asked me, Spelvin," I said. "I want to straighten you out. I did what I did openly whereas these Goldsmith layouts and others like them attack candidates from ambush. They work secretly and don't fully declare their motives, either. Goldsmith prints a list of weak, beat-up old decoys on the left margins of his letter-heads giving you the impression that these are the backers of his slush-fund layouts when the fact is that they are just names. The contributors don't appear. I went to the Waldorf Tower one time after Goldsmith refused to tell me anything and one of the assistant managers told me G had a couple of secretaries in his apartment and got a lot of mail for these letter-head societies. He said there were about a half-dozen of these things doing business in G's little apartment, but that may have been a loose estimate. He had seen a lot of people going in and out but never enough to look like a legitimate meeting of a society.

"As I say, G absolutely refused to say anything about his outfits or their funds or why they thought they had a legitimate right, sitting here in New York with their luxurious headquarters camouflaged under the address 100 East Fiftieth street, to butt into elections in states other than their own. The proposition is plain that they want to prevent the expression of the normal political will of American citizens who haven't the faintest idea that they are getting the works from unseen, mysterious strangers."

"Anything wrong about spending money in a campaign?" Spelvin asked.

"Don't try to lure me off the argument," I said. "Sure, but just the same we have been trying for a hundred years or so to get up laws to prevent abuses. How would you feel to learn that some bunch of plotters working in secret in a New York apartment had nullified your vote by their money?

"Goldsmith has got a vote for the senators in his own state of New York. Why isn't he content with that? We don't hose money into New York to nullify his vote, do we? But he thinks we can't be trusted to vote as he thinks we should. Who does he think he is?

"Another thing, Spelvin," I said. "Any time a guy sets up a political society to offset, nullify or change the votes of American citizens, votes that our ancestors fought for, he better answer questions. Membership should be absolutely open, with nobody barred provided he qualifies and lives up to the constitution and by-laws. But this mugg won't even say

W. Alton Jones of Cities Service Company is in Iran to determine whether Americans can operate the Iranian oil industry. That should have been done at least two years ago. By a mistaken state department policy of supporting British colonialism throughout the world, the United States has alienated countries that are as important to this country as Great Britain is.

Iran is one of them. It is the keystone, as Persia has always been, to the Middle East. If Soviet Russia conquered Iran (Persia), it would control Iraq, all the Arab countries, including Syria and Egypt and Israel. The independence of Pakistan would be lessened.

If Soviet Russia captured Iranian oil, its military situation would be strengthened. It is occasionally suggested that the Russians could not do the engineering necessary to deliver Iranian oil. This is wishful thinking. Soviet Russia has, in recent years, performed feats of engineering that would be a credit to any country. It is not sound thinking to underestimate Russian strength and ability. No enemy was ever defeated by a country that whistled in the dark.

Iran has no desire to be conquered by Soviet Russia, but it also has no wish to be an economic colony of Great Britain.

Were great statesmen at the helm either in the United States or Great Britain, American companies would have stepped in quickly, as soon as the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company was expelled. Had that happened, the Tudeh (Communist) party would not have been enabled to gain strength because of the frightfully deepening poverty of the people. Our companies were invited to come to Iran on straight management contracts and were not permitted to do that by a colonially-minded state department. Today, they go in late, but fortunately not too late.

One of the factors in the change of policy is the decision of the International Court of Justice at The Hague which rejected the British claims. The British contentions were disallowed by the court. The London "Times," in its news story on the subject, said:

"The Persians may . . . claim that the last restrictions on their freedom of action vis-a-vis the oil industry have thus been removed. The (Anglo-Iranian Oil Company) on the other hand, may seek arbitration again under the terms of the 1933 concession agreement."

Iran would not have needed this decision were it not that while the Persions feared Soviet Russia, they were boycotted by the United States. If Dean Acheson and the British Foreign Office believed that they could bring the Persians to their knees by poverty, disorder, and the rise of the Tudeh party, they did not understand a nation that was a vast power before Alexander the Great appeared upon the scene of world history.

These older nations need to be reappraised in terms of modern history. They had lost centuries of power, but they have lost none of their traditions of human dignity which they interpret after their own fashion. Perhaps we are beginning to understand something of that in Korea and China. President Truman and Dean Acheson and George Marshall apparently thought that we would conquer Korea with a spit ball but we have been nailed down there in a talkfest that has lasted 14 months.

Similarly, the British thought that they could monopolize the China trade by swiftly recognizing the government of Mao Tze-tung and by acting as a propagandist against Chiang Kai-shek in this country. Mao Tze-tung has not yet, after nearly three years, recognized Great Britain.

Once these ancient peoples learn to use our tools, our advantage over them is lost. For they apply to those tools an historic perspective and a moral criterion which the pragmatic West rejects for them. The historic criterion is that that country which acts first always has the advantage; the moral criterion is that a people has an inalienable right to its own way of life, to its own form of government and to the fruits of its own land.

Colonialism is dead. It is dead in Asia and in Africa. It is dead in the hearts of the lowliest people. It was dead before World War II started. The tragedy is that the Western countries never recognized the end when it actually happened and therefore increased the bitterness against them.

Throughout our history, up to the days of George Marshall and Dean Acheson, the American people and government opposed colonialism. They reversed our policy after colonialism was dead.

That Body of Yours

ALLERGY IN CHILDREN

Our allergists tell us that we are all allergic or sensitive to some food or foods but, except for an occasional stomach upset or an attack of hives or eczema, we are unaware of this allergic tendency.

However, when children are allergic to foods and have disturbances of the stomach and small intestine, the family doctor or an allergist should be consulted so that the health of the child, threatened by these many upsets, may be maintained.

In The Journal of Allergy, St. Louis, Dr. J. H. Fries describes studies of 30 allergic children, ranging in age from four to 14 years, who had repeatedly had stomach and intestinal disturbances in the form of nausea, vomiting and abdominal distress shortly after eating offending foods.

About a week after X-ray control study with barium, sulfate and water, a similar study was made, using barium sulfate and water to which the offending allergen (the food causing the symptoms) was added without the knowledge of the patient. Previous trials had revealed the amount of the allergen that would be needed to produce a pronounced disturbace of the stomach and intestine. The amounts varied from 2 to 12 cc. (about ½ to 3 or 4 teaspoons).

In the control series (none of the allergen used) the barium began to leave the stomach immediately or within ten minutes after being swallowed. In the series in which the allergen was used, a delay of 20 minutes or longer in the passing of the allergen and the barium mixture from the stomach was observed in 20 of the 28 children who were studied by fluoroscopy (X-ray).

In some instances there was persistent or intermittent narrowing of the pylorus (tube carrying food from the stomach to small intestine which narrowing caused pain in abdomen. In addition to the delay of food passing from the stomach, the stomach movements (which mix food with stomach digestive juice) were lessened in strength. In addition to pain and distress, food up to per cent in the stomach in some cases at the end of six hours, which is the longest time food should remain in a normal stomach.

The thought, then, is that children with upset stomach and intestine should be examined by X-ray (fluoroscope) for allergy.

Allergy

Being allergic to various foods and other substances such as feathers, dust, pollen, dandruff, etc., can cause many upsetting symptoms. C'mon Now, Big Boy, Allez Oop!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

STANLEY ANDREWS

Washington — There are many weapons which the free world can use to fight Communist aggression—military, political and economic weapons. But I believe history may well demonstrate that the most effective weapon we have in the struggle against Communism is the point 4 program.

Like most things of fundamental greatness, point 4 is very simple. It helps people to help themselves — by teaching and sharing America's scientific knowledge and technical skills with the peoples of the underdeveloped areas of the world.

Point 4 is not a product of our defense effort and it is not a substitute for defense, but point 4 is no less a source of strength for the free world.

Some of the countries with which the U. S. is cooperating through the point 4 program lie directly in the path of Soviet expansion. In most of these underdeveloped areas the threat of Communism is not a military threat, and it cannot be met with military measures.

Guns are no defense against poverty, ignorance, and unrest. In the underdeveloped areas the only sure defense against the spread of Communism and other forms of tyranny is a powerful, concentrated attack on disease and hunger and their evil consequences.

Point 4 is our weapon for this attack.

People-to-People Program

Point 4 is a new kind of diplomacy. Point 4 diplomats are dungaree and blue jeans diplomats—teachers, health officers, engineers, farm-demonstration agents who work directly with the people in the villages and on the farms.

Point 4 is a people-to-people program. U. S. technicians working with technicians of other countries are not concerned with political problems. In the midst of anti-U. S. disturbances in Iran, American and Iranian technicians continued to work side by side, trying to do a job that means more food, clean water, lower infant mortality, fewer deaths of mothers in childbirth.

Our work with the peoples of the point 4 countries is very similar, in fact, to your own people-to-people efforts. Drew Pearson—the Friendship Train, the Tide of Toys, and the letter-writing campaign between the people of Italian descent in the United States and their relatives in Italy which helped swing the 1947 Italian elections for democracy.

Point 4 has been called idealistic. If Point 4 is Idealism, it is hard-headed, practical idealism. There are sound economic reasons behind Point 4. Rising national income, more productive agriculture, and greater industrial activity make other nations better customers for United States' products and commodities. They create markets for American businessmen and jobs for American workers.

Beyond self-interest, the motives for Point 4 are embedded deeply in our American democratic tradition.

The peoples of the underveloped areas of the world—in Asia, Africa, the Middle East, Latin America — are awakening after centuries of impotence and subjection to outside domination. In the 18th century they were largely passed over by the industrial revolution and the political revolutions of France and America. Even the most common-place measures we take our health and sanitation are unknown to millions of them. Hundreds of millions cannot read or write and have never known the use of the ballot.

The billion human souls in these underveloped areas are waking up to the potentialities of life in the 20th century. Many of them have recently gained national independence. They are learning that hunger, disease and ignorance need not be their everlasting heritage.

It is in the tradition and the history of America that we help them. Point 4 is the vehicle on which scientific knowledge, technical inventions and material progress become traveling companions with our ideals, our hopes and aspirations for achieving real brotherhood among men.

Accomplishments of Program

What has Point 4 accomplished? More than 1,000 TCA technicians are overseas working with some 20,000 Nationals in 35 countries. The native "counter parts" of our Point 4 workers are being taught the skills and knowledge of American technicians. For the basic principle of Point 4 is to train the peoples of the participating countries so that each country can take over its own programs.

For example, the Etawah agricultural project in India is now run entirely by Indians. In Liberia, Frank Pinder, an extension agent from Florida, has helped the Liberian farmers produce a cash crop by providing 24 cocoa seeds for two cents. Point 4 workers have reduced crop losses in Lebanon by showing the Lebanese Citrus farmers modern ways of picking, shipping and marketing their crops. In Ecuador, Colombia and other Latin American countries health workers have almost eliminated the dread tropical disease yaws. A new disease-resistant rubber tree has been developed in Latin America. Malaria is being brought under control in the Near East.

Perhaps I should close this guest column with a prediction on "the shape of things to come." I am willing to predict that the American people and the peoples of the free world will turn more and more in the years to come to the Point 4 principle not only as a potent weapon against communism, but because technical assistance is the "diplomacy of the future." Even the Russians are imitating Point 4 while their propaganda attacks it.

And one more prediction:

Buz Sawyer, the famed cartoon-strip character who is helping fight the locust plague in Iran will trap the blonde Russian agent, kill the locusts, and discover uranium in southern Asia.

Saner Meanings of Stevenson Address Seen Delighting U. S. Labor Leaders

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 3—Governor Stevenson, by the artful use of phrases, gave the general public the impression that he would do an even-handed job as between management and labor, but actually the nation's labor leaders are delighted with the inner meanings and implications of his Labor Day speech which they recognize so clearly.

For what the Democratic nominee actually did was to accept 100 per cent the demands of the labor-union leaders in connection with the proposed rewriting of the Taft-Hartley Law. He did this by embracing desirable principles that everybody understands and then outlining technical proposals that only the labor lawyers and industrial relations experts understand. Careful examination of the Stevenson proposals shows that the Democratic nominee has really moved over completely to the "left" on the labor issue.

Thus, Governor Stevenson has agreed to eliminate from the new law any ban on "unfair labor practices" by unions except the two which they themselves for some time now have told congressional committees they would accept — a ban on jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts.

Mr. Stevenson comes out for the "closed shop" device — now prohibited—which means a worker wouldn't be able hereafter to apply for a job in free America, or keep it, unless he accepts union rule. The employer would be bound by such a law to discharge any man whose views or activities the union officers disapprove. The language of union constitutions is very broad in giving to union officers the power to expel members they dislike.

Then Governor Stevenson would eliminate any injunction as against labor unions but would retain the use of the injunction against employers. He would turn the clock back to the old one-sided Wagner Law. He would legalize compulsory union membership. He would make it possible again for threats by strong-arm squads and intimidation by union organizers to coerce the workers into the union and yet go unpunished. He would restore the conditions from which the Taft-Hartley Law emancipated the American workingman. He would give America a real "slave labor law."

Now, maybe Governor Stevenson himself didn't intend to imply any of these things, but whoever prepares the data for his speeches certainly gave him the CIO line and he swallowed it. Here are some of the misleading statements in the Stevenson speech, which was far more jumbled than it appeared on surface:

First, Governor Stevenson, in his widely published text as released in advance of delivery, says the "Taft-Hartley Act, like the Wagner Act before it, prohibits certain types of unfair labor practices by companies or unions."

That statement is factually wrong 100 per cent. The Wagner Act did not prohibit any unfair labor practices by unions. It merely prohibited such practices by employers. That's why it was a one-sided law.

Second, Governor Stevenson says the Taft-Hartley Act revived the "labor injunction." He opposes the use of the injunction to stop "unfair labor practices" committed by unions. He would retain court injunctions only as a means of stopping employers from committing "unfair labor practices."

Third, the governor says, "it is only common sense to acknowledge that we must forbid such practices as jurisdictional strikes and strikes or boycotts attempting to force an employer to deal with one union when another has been certified as the representative of his employees."

And how would the government enforce this without getting from the courts an injunction against a union that violated the law? Surely it is too sweeping a statement to say that a new labor-management law can be written without the use of the injunction process as a means of enforcement against unions and employers alike.

Fourth, the governor says a lot about "voluntary settlement of strikes" but wants nevertheless a law against strikes that "threaten our national safety." He says of such a law:

"Its purpose should be to keep these cases out of the White House, if possible."

When the reader notes that sentence, he agrees that this is something everybody wants, but the governor immediately contradicts the concept in the next sentence when he says:

"But the Congress should give the President a choice of procedures when voluntary agreement proves impossible; seizure provisions geared to the circumstances . . ."

Among the "choices" which Governor Stevenson enumerated is "a recommendation of settlement terms." The mere presence of this in a series of "choices" in the same law that provides for presidential intervention pushes the labor problem right to the doorstep of the White House for "settlement." This is exactly what happened in the steel case. Once President Truman had seized the steel plants, he recommended "terms of settlement" and actually tried to put them into effect when the Supreme Court of the U. S. stopped him because he had no law.

Governor Stevenson would provide the President with a law that would enable him to dictate terms of settlement after the plants are seized. This is compulsory arbitration placed in the hands of a politician. For, whatever Governor Stevenson may say about the "political inspiration" behind the Taft-Hartley Act, there certainly was plenty of "political inspiration" behind what Mr. Truman did for his allies in the CIO in the recent steel seizure.

Fifth, the Democratic nominee, in coming out in effect for the "closed shop," gives as an excuse for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley provisions the allegation that the "closed shop" ban in the present law isn't respected. He says:

"Today several thousand employers and several million employes are operating under bootleg agreements in flagrant violation of the statute."

A conspiracy by two or more persons to violate any law is a federal crime. Why hasn't President Truman's Department of Justice prosecuted the unions and employers who, Governor Stevenson says, are violating the law?

The answer is that Mr. Truman himself has publicly denounced the Taft-Hartley Act and, although requested by both houses of Congress to use it, has refused. That same spirit of nullification has spread throughout the labor world. Because the President of the United States has refused to order the Taft-Hartley Act enforced, the Democratic nominee now cites the resultant conditions as his main reason for "repeal."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

As I was waiting for the bus to work this morning, George Spelvin, American, pulled up at the traffic light and said: "Hey, jump in here I want to ask you something. What's the idea beefing because guys like this Goldsmith, the kapok dragon of the Waldorf Tower and his letter-head societies, get up slush funds to knock off candidates in Wisconsin and Nevada and then you raise money for Joe McCarthy in Wisconsin. You talk about outsiders horning in. What about horning in yourself?"

"I am glad you asked me, Spelvin," I said. "I want to straighten you out. I did what I did openly whereas these Goldsmith layouts and others like them attack candidates from ambush. They work secretly and don't fully declare their motives, either. Goldsmith prints a list of weak, beat-up old decoys on the left margins of his letter-heads giving you the impression that these are the backers of his slush-fund layouts when the fact is that they are just names. The contributors don't appear. I went to the Waldorf Tower one time after Goldsmith refused to tell me anything and one of the assistant managers told me G had a couple of secretaries in his apartment and got a lot of mail for these letter-head societies. He said there were about a half-dozen of these things doing business in G's little apartment, but that may have been a loose estimate. He had seen a lot of people going in and out but never enough to look like a legitimate meeting of a society.

"As I say, G absolutely refused to say anything about his outfits or their funds or why they thought they had a legitimate right, sitting here in New York with their luxurious headquarters camouflaged under the address 100 East Fiftieth street, to butt into elections in states other than their own. The proposition is plain that they want to prevent the expression of the normal political will of American citizens who haven't the faintest idea that they are getting the works from unseen, mysterious strangers."

"Anything wrong about spending money in a campaign?" Spelvin asked.

"Don't try to lure me off the argument," I said. "Sure, but just the same we have been trying for a hundred years or so to get up laws to prevent abuses. How would you feel to learn that some bunch of plotters working in secret in a New York apartment had nullified your vote by their money?

"Goldsmith has got a vote for the senators in his own state of New York. Why isn't he content with that? We don't hose money into New York to nullify his vote, do we? But he thinks we can't be trusted to vote as he thinks we should. Who does he think he is?

"Another thing, Spelvin," I said. "Any time a guy sets up a political society to offset, nullify or change the votes of American citizens, votes that our ancestors fought for, he better answer questions. Membership should be absolutely open, with nobody barred provided he qualifies and lives up to the constitution and by-laws. But this mugg won't even say whether he has got a constitution and by-laws. That is mighty suspicious conduct to me and remember, the people who put up the money are not the self-important joiners whose names are listed on the letter-heads. You don't find out who really put up the money until you dig your way through the official reports to Congress. That is the only way you can find out how much they spent trying to beat Pat McCarran in Nevada or Joe McCarthy in Wisconsin. Their senators of their own states are not enough for these Joes. They want all the senators."

"Yes," Spelvin said, pulling over to the curb to let me out at my corner. "Yes, but look. You beef about this and then you raise money for McCarthy in Wisconsin. Aren't you trying to nullify the votes of people who vote against McCarthy?"

"No," I said. "I am anti-Communist and I can spot the type who say, 'Oh you mustn't make reckless charges against innocent people or you will have everybody afraid to express an opinion.' That is the anti-McCarthy type, but they don't give a dam for freedom of expression. They just want to protect fellow-travelers and even conspirators from exposure. They are reckless enough in their charges against McCarthy, aren't they? And their charges against me, too. But Joe doesn't whine and you will never hear me begging for mercy either. I will kick those bums in the pelvis. Defamation is okay when you defame Pegler, but don't ever tell the truth about La Boca Grande."

"Go on, get out of here," Spelvin said. "I got to get to work. I'll be late. But first tell me, how much did you raise for Joe?"

"Nothing," I said. "I gave a few bucks myself to help a busted guy, with a 30-inch incision after a bad operation, to stand off a load of eastern money and I just mentioned in print that other anti-Coms might want to drop a nickel on the dram. But there was nothing secret about it."

"Go on, get going," Spelvin said. "I'll get canned."

"Go on, yourself. Go on, get canned. You asked me didn't you? I told you. Now you yell 'Go on, get going.' Go on, get going yourself."

Governor's Tribute Paid to Elmer Quinn

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Gov. Dewey says the late Elmer F. Quinn was "one of the most beloved men to serve in the legislature in our time."

Quinn, 57-year-old Democratic minority leader in the state Senate, died yesterday in a New York city hospital.

In a statement, the Republican Governor said Quinn's death "comes as a deep shock to me and his associates in the state government."

Dewey added:

"He was a diligent, hard-fighting leader for his party in the state Senate and was always a gallant warrior in political battle.

Elmer Quinn was a kindly, friendly man whose spirit of fellowship, even in political strife, won him the respect and friendship of all of us who were privileged to know him well."

FACE ON THE BARRED-ROOM FLOOR—Robert Miller, 23, of Cassopolis, Mich., finds it isn't so easy to escape from jail. Miller, who attempted to squeeze under his cell door, was pinned to the floor for over twelve hours. Sheriff R Edgar Probst, of Cassopolis, left, and Fire Chief Donald Rhoades, right, finally had to cut the imprisoning bars with an acetylene torch to free Miller so they could put him back in jail.

As Pegler Sees It

whether he has got a constitution and by-laws. That is mighty suspicious conduct to me and remember, the people who put up the money are not the self-important joiners whose names are listed on the letter-heads. You don't find out who really put up the money until you dig your way through the official reports to Congress. That is the only way you can find out how much they spent trying to beat Pat McCarran in Nevada or Joe McCarthy in Wisconsin. Their senators of their own states are not enough for these Joes. They want all the senators."

"Yes," Spelvin said, pulling over to the curb to let me out at my corner. "Yes, but look. You beef about this and then you raise money for McCarthy in Wisconsin. Aren't you trying to nullify the votes of people who vote against McCarthy?"

"No," I said. "I am anti-Communist and I can spot the type who say, 'Oh you mustn't make reckless charges against innocent people or you will have everybody afraid to express an opinion.' That is the anti-McCarthy type, but they don't give a dam for freedom of expression. They just want to protect fellow-travelers and even conspirators from exposure. They are reckless enough in their charges against McCarthy, aren't they? And their charges against me, too. But Joe doesn't whine and you will never hear me begging for mercy either. I will kick those bums in the pelvis. Defamation is okay when you defame Pegler, but don't ever tell the truth about La Boca Grande."

"Go on, get out of here," Spelvin said. "I got to get to work. I'll be late. But first tell me, how much did you raise for Joe?"

"Nothing," I said. "I gave a few bucks myself to help a busted guy, with a 30-inch incision after a bad operation, to stand off a load of eastern money and I just mentioned in print that other anti-Coms might want to drop a nickel on the dam. But there was nothing secret about it."

"Go on, get going," Spelvin said. "I'll get canned."

"Go on, yourself. Go on, get canned. You asked me didn't you? I told you. Now you yell 'Go on, get going.' Go on, get going yourself."

Governor's Tribute Paid to Elmer Quinn

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Gov. Dewey says the late Elmer F. Quinn was "one of the most beloved men to serve in the legislature in our time."

Quinn, 57-year-old Democratic minority leader in the state Senate, died yesterday in a New York city hospital.

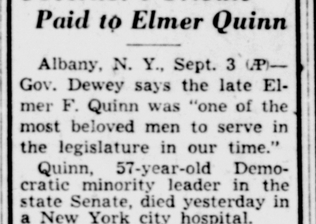

In a statement, the Republican Governor said Quinn's death "comes as a deep shock to me and his associates in the state government."

Dewey added:

"He was a diligent, hard-fighting leader for his party in the state Senate and was always a gallant warrior in political battle.

Elmer Quinn was a kindly, friendly man whose spirit of fellowship, even in political strife, won him the respect and friendship of all of us who were privileged to know him well."

Council Will Hold

ments of many streets on which he had traveled.

Alderman Schechter, during the discussion, reminded Alderman Radel that he was entitled to obtain the information he desired from the BPW records.

City Judge Raymond Mino's letter calling attention to the new city court act which increases the monetary jurisdiction of the court and tends to mean the trial of more cases there, said the night presentation of cases was not as satisfoctory as during the day. He also said jurors would serve longer during day trials and asked the council to fix a fee for jurors.

Summons Filed

The law office of Flanagan & Ortale filed a summons and complaint following the previously filed claim of Shelia M. Carey, of 143 Harding avenue, daughter of former Mayor Eugene B. Carey, for $75,000 for injuries suffered in a toboggan mishap Dec. 23, 1951 at Hasbrouck Park.

The complaint said the toboggan on which Miss Carey was coasting struck a heap or mound of macadam covered with snow as a result she suffered a severe back injury and other temporary and permanent injuries, was hospitalized 20 days, was in a plaster cast a number of weeks and is required to wear a steel back support. The original claim was filed March 18, 1952.

Asks $400 for Damage

Isadore Jacobson of Jacobson's Men's Shop, 39 John street, through the law firm of Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman, filed a claim of $400 for water damage in the cellar during the rebuilding of John street. This was also referred to the corporation counsel.

Sherwood E. Davis in a letter to the mayor and council recommended combining the city and county defense offices because the merger would be more economical and conserve personnel. The move, he said, had been recommended by the State Civil Defense Commission. A similar letter, he said, had been sent to the Board of Supervisors. The proposal to the council was referred to the corporation counsel.

Referred to Counsel

A resolution by Aldermen Ryan and Mayes protested the sale of the School No. 8 property at the $27,000 recently bid for it, and was referred to the corporation counsel.

The resolution said the special committee appointed at the Aug. 5 meeting to confer with Mayor Newkirk on the proposal to delay public sale of the property pending consideration of using it as a recreation center, was unable to meet with the mayor because of his vacation.

The resolution said the committee protested the sale of the property "at this price and for this purpose."

Alderman Cullum reminded his colleagues that there appeared to be no indication that the bid on the property was for any particular purpose, and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly said the council has no direct jurisdiction over the sale since it was a problem of the education board.

Ryan said he wished to have the "situation clarified," so future action could be determined.

Mrs. Adele Bregman, 126 Broadway, granted privilege of the floor, spoke at length against a delay in the sale of the property. She felt the building was not in proper condition for a higher price and indicated she was opposed to use of the property for a recreation center. She felt the building had defects that were not conducive to a higher bid, and hoped the money could be used toward reduced taxes.

To Education Board

Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly said her argument was one for the education board and he said they would meet Thursday night at which time she might have opportunity to voice her opinion.

The aldermen adopted recommendations of the traffic committee to prohibit parking on the south side of Orchard street for 50 feet west, on the west side of Clinton avenue at the north curb line of Pearl street along the west curb line of Clinton avenue for 90 southwest and to authorize a loading zone on the north side of West O'Reilly street at Broadway and designate the area as a no parking zone.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was authorized to attend a fire school at Old Forge Sept. 20 and 21.

The following appointments by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk were received and filed:

Attorney Joseph Avis, of 152 St. James street reappointed to the zoning board until Aug. 21, 1955; Blanche M. Burr, 150 Highland avenue, senior clerk in the city treasurer's office to fill vacancy left by Martin Mooney, whose appointment terminated Aug. 9, 1952; appointment of Joseph J. Horvers, 139 Pine Grove avenue, as acting dog warden, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Stanley Snow, 27 Essex street.

Resolutions Offered

The following resolutions offered by aldermen were referred for action:

Dolan: That the BPW be requested to acquire the necessary site and construct and maintain a baseball field and park facilities in the Eighth Ward. The alderman said this was accompanied by a petition of more than 200 names and he hoped the recreation department would take definite action. He submitted at this time, he said, so money would be included in the 1953 budget.

Parmelee: That a condition causing flooding of properties in South Wall street be corrected; that a stream of water which runs down Chapel street be checked at its source; that an investigation be made of Wallkill Valley trains blocking the South Clinton avenue crossing for 20 to 35 minutes, and a guard rail near the railroad bridge on Abeel street be repaired.

Mayes: That a "no parking" sign be erected at 785 Broadway in front of the premises occupied by James Mack of the Royal Tire Service to permit access to the property.

Ryan: That parking meters be removed at the bus stop area at Broadway and Liberty street, which is a transfer point; establish one-hour parking and remove meters on Broadway from Liberty street to the H. F. King property line.

Schecter: That a condition causing the overflow of sewers in the Murray and East Pierpont street sections during heavy rains be corrected; and a sign be painted at Hasbrouck and Newkirk avenues for protection of school children.

Relyea: that no parking be permitted in front of 162 Fair street.

Cullum: that street signs be placed at Hurley avenue and Coffey Place, Howland avenue and Coffey Place, Valentine avenue and Pearl street, and a street light at the dead end of Irving Place, and the following streets repaired: Merilina avenue; Fairview avenue; Mountain View, Pearl to Miller's Lane; Fairmont avenue; Johnston avenue, Pearl to dead end; Coffey Place, Hurley to Howland; Lafayette avenue, Main to Lucas; Warren, Wall to Washington, and Noone's Lane.

Coughlin: that the BPW consider the condition of German, Hudson, Ravine, Hone, West Union and Abeel streets, and he asked action on a resolution offered four months ago on regulating parking on Abeel and Union streets. There have been 10 or 12 accidents and two deaths in the area since the first resolution, he said.

Kelly Suggestion

helps the residents" in that area.

Praise Is Given

On suggestion of Alderman-at Large Kelly the council commended the public works department and Police Chief Raymond Van Buren for their work during Monday's storm in which Kelly, as acting mayor, was also active at the various flooded areas in the city.

Kelly's suggestion that the city refuse to take over responsibility for the underpass until the flood condition is relieved, followed his first hand observations during Monday's heavy downpour.

Confiscate Property

Hong Kong (AP) — The Hankow Communist newspaper, Chang Chiang Daily, accuses Communist land reform officials of confiscating the properties of farmers whose lands the officials took for redistribution. The Hankow paper says food stores, farm tools, livestock and clothing taken by the land reformers were either sold by them or held by the officials.

New TB Director At Local Hospital

DR. HERBERT SCHWARTZ

Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, who has served as director of the Pine Crest Sanatorium, Herkimer county tuberculosis hospital at Salisbury Center, since 1944, has assumed his new duties as director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital. Dr. Schwartz was appointed by the Ulster County Board of Health at the July 14 meeting to succeed Dr. Joseph Jacobson, who resigned as director.

Dr. Jacobson has served as director of the local tuberculosis hospital since Jan. 1, 1951, and had served as acting director following the resignation of Dr. George Weber in Sept. 1950, until his appointment as director in 1951. Dr. Jacobson is continuing as thoracic surgical consultant at the hospital, a position which he has held since 1935. He also will serve as attending thoracic surgeon at the Municipal Tuberculosis Hospital at Otisville, and as clinical assistant professor of surgery at the New York Medical College.

Completed X-Ray Survey

Dr. Schwartz assumed his new duties Sept. 1. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School in 1935 and served a residency of one and a half years at Sea View Tuberculosis Hospital, Staten Island. He also has been associated with the Schenectady County Tuberculosis Hospital and with the Robert Koch Hospital in St. Louis. He also worked with the Tuberculosis Division of the New York State Health Department completing an X-ray survey of state mental hospitals.

In a recent issue of the Little Falls Evening Times, commenting on the work of Dr. Schwartz in Herkimer county, the paper said:

Tribute From Press

"Widespread indeed were the expressions of regret heard this week when announcement was made that Dr. Herbert Schwartz, the capable and conscientious superintendent of Pine Crest Sanitorium, has resigned that post to accept a position as superintendent of the tuberculosis hospital at Kingston, N. Y. Everyone who knows anything at all about Pine Crest is aware of the wonderful job Dr. Schwartz has done during his years of service there. Constantly he has striven, sometimes in the face of discouraging conditions, to raise the standards of the institution and to make progress in the unrelenting fight against a disease long regarded as one of the prime enemies of mankind. . . . A believer in the old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," Dr. Schwartz has been energetic in promoting the free chest X-ray examinations that are now available periodically and in which the Pine Crest equipment is taken to the various communities of the county as a convenience to the public. . . . Dr. Schwartz is earnestly devoted to the care and safeguarding of the public health, and his departure will be a distinct loss for Herkimer county. He has said his new post offers 'a new challenge and new opportunities,' and we know he will measure up to them."

Sees Work Ahead In Justice Probe

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—T. Lamar Caudle proved to be such an interesting witness at a closed-door hearing yesterday that a House investigating chairman remarked after it was over that his group "has a lot more work than we thought we had."

"We've got a terrific September ahead of us," added Rep. Chelf (D.-Ky.) after listening to Caudle for more than five hours. Then he expressed doubt his judiciary subcommittee, which has been investigating the Justice Department, will be able to finish its work by Oct. 1 as planned.

Caudle, who was the government's chief tax prosecutor until President Truman fired him from his job as assistant attorney general last November, provided some information that was brand new to them, Chelf said.

The chairman said the discussion covered "a lot of cases and a lot of things."

Brought in by Clark

Rep. Keating (R.-N. Y.), ranking minority member of the committee, told reporters that some of Caudle's information "related to previous attorneys general," but he didn't elaborate.

Caudle was brought into the Justice Department in 1945 by Atty.-Gen. Tom C. Clark, now a Supreme Court justice. Clark was succeeded by J. Howard McGrath, who was head of the department when Caudle was discharged for "outside activity."

Today Caudle, telling reporters he was "delighted to cooperate," stood by for another private session with the subcommittee.

The time of his next appearance remained uncertain because of a public hearing scheduled today into the recent ouster of a veteran Justice Department lawyer, also for outside activity.

The resolution said the special committee appointed at the Aug. 5 meeting to confer with Mayor Newkirk on the proposal to delay public sale of the property pending consideration of using it as a recreation center, was unable to meet with the mayor because of his vacation.

The resolution said the committee protested the sale of the property "at this price and for this purpose."

Alderman Cullum reminded his celleagues that there appeared to be no indication that the bid on the property was for any particular purpose, and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly said the council has no direct jurisdiction over the sale since it was a problem of the education board.

Ryan said he wished to have the "situation clarified," so future action could be determined.

Mrs. Adele Bregman, 126 Broadway, granted privilege of the floor, spoke at length against a delay in the sale of the property. She felt the building was not in proper condition for a higher price and indicated she was opposed to use of the property for a recreation center. She felt the building had defects that were not conducive to a higher bid, and hoped the money could be used toward reduced taxes.

To Education Board

Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly said her argument was one for the education board and he said they would meet Thursday night at which time she might have opportunity to voice her opinion.

The aldermen adopted recommendations of the traffic committee to prohibit parking on the south side of Orchard street for 50 feet west, on the west side of Clinton avenue at the north curb line of Pearl street along the west curb line of Clinton avenue for 90 southwest and to authorize a loading zone on the north side of West O'Reilly street at Broadway and designate the area as a no parking zone.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was authorized to attend a fire school at Old Forge Sept. 20 and 21.

The following appointments by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk were received and filed:

Attorney Joseph Avis, of 152 St. James street reappointed to the zoning board until Aug. 21, 1955; Blanche M. Burr, 150 Highland avenue, senior clerk in the city treasurer's office to fill vacancy left by Martin Mooney, whose appointment terminated Aug. 9, 1952; appointment of Joseph J. Horvers, 139 Pine Grove avenue, as acting dog warden, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Stanley Snow, 27 Essex street.

Resolutions Offered

The following resolutions offered by aldermen were referred for action:

Dolan: That the BPW be requested to acquire the necessary site and construct and maintain a baseball field and park facilities in the Eighth Ward. The alderman said this was accompanied by a petition of more than 200 names and he hoped the recreation department would take definite action. He submitted at this time, he said, so money would be included in the 1953 budget.

Parmelee: That a condition causing flooding of properties in South Wall street be corrected; that a stream of water which runs down Chapel street be checked at its source; that an investigation be made of Wallkill Valley trains blocking the South Clinton avenue crossing for 20 to 35 minutes, and a guard rail near the railroad bridge on Abeel street be repaired.

Mayes: That a "no parking" sign be erected at 785 Broadway in front of the premises occupied by James Mack of the Royal Tire Service to permit access to the property.

Ryan: That parking meters be removed at the bus stop area at Broadway and Liberty street, which is a transfer point establish one-hour parking and remove meters on Broadway from Liberty street to the H. F. King property line.

Schecter: That a condition causing the overflow of sewers in the Murray and East Pierpont street sections during heavy rains be corrected; and a sign be painted at Hasbrouck and Newkirk avenues for protection of school children.

Relyea: that no parking be permitted in front of 162 Fair street.

Cullum: that street signs be placed at Hurley avenue and Coffey Place, Howland avenue and Coffey Place, Valentine avenue and Pearl street, and a street light at the dead end of Irving Place, and the following streets repaired: Merilina avenue; Fairview avenue; Mountain View, Pearl to Miller's Lane; Fairmont avenue; Johnston avenue, Pearl to dead end; Coffey Place, Hurley to Howland; Lafayette avenue, Main to Lucas; Warren, Wall to Washington, and Noone's Lane.

Coughlin: that the BPW consider the condition of German, Hudson, Ravine, Hone, West Union and Abeel streets, and he asked action on a resolution offered four months ago on regulating parking on Abeel and Union streets. There have been 10 or 12 accidents and two deaths in the area since the first resolution, he said.

Kelly Suggestion

helps the residents" in that area.

Praise Is Given

On suggestion of Alderman-at Large Kelly the council commended the public works department and Police Chief Raymond Van Buren for their work during Monday's storm in which Kelly, as acting mayor, was also active at the various flooded areas in the city.

Kelly's suggestion that the city refuse to take over responsibility for the underpass until the flood condition is relieved, followed his first hand observations during Monday's heavy downpour.

Confiscate Property

Hong Kong (AP) — The Hankow Communist newspaper, Chang Chiang Daily, accuses Communist land reform officials of confiscating the properties of farmers whose lands the officials took for redistribution. The Hankow paper says food stores, farm tools, livestock and clothing taken by the land reformers were either sold by them or held by the officials.

New TB Director At Local Hospital

Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, who has served as director of the Pine Crest Sanatorium, Herkimer county tuberculosis hospital at Salisbury Center, since 1944, has assumed his new duties as director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital. Dr. Schwartz was appointed by the Ulster County Board of Health at the July 14 meeting to succeed Dr. Joseph Jacobson, who resigned as director.

Dr. Jacobson has served as director of the local tuberculosis hospital since Jan. 1, 1951, and had served as acting director following the resignation of Dr. George Weber in Sept. 1950, until his appointment as director in 1951. Dr. Jacobson is continuing as thoracic surgical consultant at the hospital, a position which he has held since 1935. He also will serve as attending thoracic surgeon at the Municipal Tuberculosis Hospital at Otisville, and as clinical assistant professor of surgery at the New York Medical College.

Completed X-Ray Survey

Dr. Schwartz assumed his new duties Sept. 1. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School in 1935 and served a residency of one and a half years at Sea View Tuberculosis Hospital, Staten Island. He also has been associated with the Schenectady County Tuberculosis Hospital and with the Robert Koch Hospital in St. Louis. He also worked with the Tuberculosis Division of the New York State Health Department completing an X-ray survey of state mental hospitals.

In a recent issue of the Little Falls Evening Times, commenting on the work of Dr. Schwartz in Herkimer county, the paper said:

Tribute From Press

"Widespread indeed were the expressions of regret heard this week when announcement was made that Dr. Herbert Schwartz, the capable and conscientious superintendent of Pine Crest Sanitorium, has resigned that post to accept a position as superintendent of the tuberculosis hospital at Kingston, N. Y. Everyone who knows anything at all about Pine Crest is aware of the wonderful job Dr. Schwartz has done during his years of service there. Constantly he has striven, sometimes in the face of discouraging conditions, to raise the standards of the institution and to make progress in the unrelenting fight against a disease long regarded as one of the prime enemies of mankind. . . . A believer in the old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," Dr. Schwartz has been energetic in promoting the free chest X-ray examinations that are now available periodically and in which the Pine Crest equipment is taken to the various communities of the county as a convenience to the public. . . . Dr. Schwartz is earnestly devoted to the care and safeguarding of the public health, and his departure will be a distinct loss for Herkimer county. He has said his new post offers 'a new challenge and new opportunities,' and we know he will measure up to them."

Sees Work Ahead In Justice Probe

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—T. Lamar Caudle proved to be such an interesting witness at a closed-door hearing yesterday that a House investigating chairman remarked after it was over that his group "has a lot more work than we thought we had."

"We've got a terrific September ahead of us," added Rep. Chelf (D.-Gy.) after listening to Caudle for more than five hours. Then he expressed doubt his judiciary subcommittee, which has been investigating the Justice Department, will be able to finish its work by Oct. 1 as planned.

Caudle, who was the government's chief tax prosecutor until President Truman fired him from his job as assistant attorney general last November, provided some information that was brand new to them, Chelf said.

The chairman said the discussion covered "a lot of cases and a lot of things."

Brought in by Clark

Rep. Keating (R.-N. Y.), ranking minority member of the committee, told reporters that some of Caudle's information "related to previous attorneys general," but he didn't elaborate.

Caudle was brought into the Justice Department in 1945 by Atty.-Gen. Tom C. Clark, now a Supreme Court justice. Clark was succeeded by J. Howard McGrath, who was head of the department when Caudle was discharged for "outside activity."

Today Caudle, telling reporters he was "delighted to cooperate," stood by for another private session with the subcommittee.

The time of his next appearance remained uncertain because of a public hearing scheduled today into the recent ouster of a veteran Justice Department lawyer, also for outside activity.

Local Firms Are Asked To Aid in Freedom Week

Local observation of Production for Freedom Week, Sept. 7-13, was advocated today by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. President Lawrence J. MacAvery, suggested area participation in a letter to leading industries, businesses and utilities asking them to develop individual plans for its observance.

MacAvery said that the objectives of Production for Freedom Week are: (1) To show that America has reached the position of world leadership through the unimpeded genius of our citizens; (2) to dramatize the importance of modern tools and skilled labor in our production miracles; (3) to emphasize the major role of production as the foundation of prosperity and; (4) to show that business and industry, under our free private enterprise and capitalistic system can best meet our requirements.

Nationally all channels of publicity will be used to carry out the objectives of the program which is supported by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. "Production is the basis for prosperity," MacAvery said in his letter. "Only by still greater production can we have more of the things we want. Let's all help make certain that our free private enterprise system is preserved and continues to function according to the same principals that brought us to our present position of world leadership."

Motorcycle Vacation

Indianapolis (AP) — The postman who hikes on his vacation has nothing on Motorcycle Patrolman George Lynch. He and his wife took their last vacation on a 2,800 mile trip—by motorcycle.

Bali, where Hindu gods still reign, is a place of temples and spectacular rice terraces, glittering dances and ancient music.

BETTER THAN COCONUTS—Zuma, left, and Bongo enjoy a tasty bottle of specially-prepared coconut milk as they are fed by Arusimo Bronzini, director of the Rome Municipal Zoo. The baby gorillas are believed to be the first to be shipped to a European zoo since the end of World War II. Born in the French Congo, the simian infants were purchased for $4800. They'll soon be too heavy to sit on Bronzini's lap.

Suicide Is Verdict In Minkler Death

James Edward Minkler, 76, an employe of the DiPrima Hotel, Highland, for the past eight years, died about 3 p. m. yesterday in his room in the hotel as the result of a bullet wound in his right temple.

Coroner Ernest M. Kelly returned a verdict of "suicide by shooting a .22 rifle into the right side of the head." He said that there would be no autopsy.

Minkler was reported to have told friends recently that they "wouldn't be seeing him for very long," Coroner Kelly said. He had been in ill health for the past several years under the care of Dr. Peter F. Lordi of Highland. The lunch which had been brought to his room was found untouched.

Minkler, formerly of Tivoli, was esteemed by the DiPrimas, it was said, and often went south with the family. His wife died in 1936.

The body was taken to Kelly Funeral Home in Kingston. Highland state police assisted Coroner Kelly in the investigation.

Tooth Brushing Necessary

There is strong evidence to indicate that tooth infection is more apt to occur if the teeth are not cleaned promptly after meals, and especially after consuming sweetened soft drinks, says the General Electric research laboratory.

Storm Grounds UN Planes in Korea

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 3 (AP)—A tropical storm today grounded UN warplanes and lashed infantrymen on the Korean battlefront with up to 3½ inches of rain.

U. S. Fifth Air Force headquarters reported only weather reconnaisance planes took off.

Allied fighter-bombers yesterday bombed an airfield near Sinanju which the Fifth Air Force said the Communists were rebuilding. The Sinanju field lies about 155 miles north of the western front and would give Red jet pilots a base within range of the front.

Pilots reported 70 direct bomb hits on the runway. They did not see any Red planes, the air force added.

The storm battered Seoul during the night as it moved northward. An army weather officer said wind gusts reached a velocity of about 69 miles an hour.

Wood Beams Replace Steel

North Bay, Canada (AP) — The steel shortage didn't worry contractors on a new bank building here. To support the floor they used beams made of glued pieces of British Columbia fir, 9 by 16 inches and 20 feet long with similar but longer beams for the roof.

FLOATING "LANDING FIELDS"—Part of the record-breaking job being done in Korea in bringing casualties safely to hospitalization is due to such ingenious devices as the floating platforms seen moored to the hospital ship U.S.S. Haven. Helicopters, carrying wounded from the battlefields, land on these and the casualties are quickly taken into the ship's hospital quarters.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 3 (AP)—The stock market clung today to its pattern of cautious improvement.

Gains among leading issues ran to as much as a point or more, while losses generally were held to small fractions.

Activity picked up a bit, hitting a rate of more than a million shares a day during the morning trading hours. Yesterday's total was 970,000 shares.

Some of the better gains were listed for radio-TV, chemical, petroleum, rubber and aircraft issues. Several low-priced stocks received attention at times.

The increased volume was encouraging to those looking for a new test of the year's average highs. The market has edged narrowly upward for the past four sessions, but trading has been at an apathetic less-than-a-million pace.

Reaching higher levels today were Dow Chemical, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Zenith Radio, Admiral, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Standard Oil (N. J.), Santa Fe, Goodrich, American Smelting, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Chrysler, General Motors, Continental Motors, Willys-Overland, Roan Antelope, and United Gas.

Depressed at times were American Tobacco, American Can, McIntyre Porcupine, Phelps Dodge, National Distillers, Sears Roebuck and United Air Lines.

Corporate bonds developed only small changes. U. S. Government issues were steady in over-the-counter trading.

$500,000 Asked to Repair Schoharie Dam Spillway

New York, Sept. 3 (AP) — The City Department of Water Supply told a City Planning Commission hearing today that it needed $500,000 to repair the spillway at Schoharie Dam near Prattsville.

Describing the new Schoharie repairs as "necessary," Commissioner Dominick F. Paduano said they were in addition to $870,000 in repairs alrealy included in the next budget. Retaining walls were damaged, he said, by 22 billion gallons of water that spilled over the dam daily last winter.

The bulk of the water improvement expenditures which are sought would go to the extension of special trunk mains serving Queens, Paduano said, describing the borough as "the fastest growing area of the city," he said water pressure dropped with every heat wave because of overtaxed mains.

'Plenty of Water'

Insisting that "there is plenty of water in our reservoirs," the commisisoner said speedy action was required to restore proper pressures in Flushing, Bayside, Douglaston and Little Neck and extend mains "to the city line before mushrooming new housing developments are completed."

Noting that a new 72-inch main has been completed across the old world's fair site to give flushing and the area beyond a better water supply, the commissioner said a new, bigger main must be constructed under Union Turnpike before an "inadequate" main under Horace Harding Boulevard can be replaced.

In addition, Mr. Paduano said, a 72-inch feeder must be installed under Queens Boulevard to connect the improved mains directly to a major water tunnel in Sunnyside.

Writer Pulls Big Political Upset

Reno, Sept. 3 (AP)—In a stunning David and Goliath drama, an unknown young newspaperman today appeared to have pulled the political upset of Nevada history.

With about 98 per cent of yesterday's primary election vote counted, lanky Tom Mechling, 31, was leading Sen. Pat McCarran's hand picked candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination by 699 votes—with only about 500 more to be counted.

An unofficial tabulation early today gave Mechling 15,777 votes to 15,078 for Alan Bible, 42, Nevada's widely liked former attorney general.

The Democratic nominee will try in November to oust Republican Sen. George Malone, who easily won renomination.

Mechling is a soft-spoken, boyish looking former newsman, who until seven months ago worked in Washington, D. C., with Kiplinger Newsletter and the San Francisco Chronicle's Capital Bureau.

Bible has long been looked upon as a lawyer with a brilliant political future in Nevada. He was considered by many as the ultimate successor to the 76-year-old McCarran.

McCarran personally campaigned for Bible, something he never publicly had done for any other candidate.

Local Firms Are Asked To Aid in Freedom Week

Local observation of Production for Freedom Week, Sept. 7-13, was advocated today by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. President Lawrence J. MacAvery, suggested area participation in a letter to leading industries, businesses and utilities asking them to develop individual plans for its observance.

MacAvery said that the objectives of Production for Freedom Week are: (1) To show that America has reached the position of world leadership through the unimpeded genius of our citizens; (2) to dramatize the importance of modern tools and skilled labor in our production miracles; (3) to emphasize the major role of production as the foundation of prosperity and; (4) to show that business and industry, under our free private enterprise and capitalistic system can best meet our requirements.

Nationally all channels of publicity will be used to carry out the objectives of the program which is supported by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. "Production is the basis for prosperity," MacAvery said in his letter. "Only by still greater production can we have more of the things we want. Let's all help make certain that our free private enterprise system is preserved and continues to function according to the same principals that brought us to our present position of world leadership."

BETTER THAN COCONUTS—Zuma, left, and Bongo enjoy a tasty bottle of specially-prepared coconut milk as they are fed by Arusimo Bronzini, director of the Rome Municipal Zoo. The baby gorillas are believed to be the first to be shipped to a European zoo since the end of World War II. Born in the French Congo, the simian infants were purchased for $4800. They'll soon be too heavy to sit on Bronzini's lap.

Suicide Is Verdict In Minkler Death

James Edward Minkler, 76, an employe of the DiPrima Hotel, Highland, for the past eight years, died about 3 p. m. yesterday in his room in the hotel as the result of a bullet wound in his right temple.

Coroner Ernest M. Kelly returned a verdict of "suicide by shooting a .22 rifle into the right side of the head." He said that there would be no autopsy.

Minkler was reported to have told friends recently that they "wouldn't be seeing him for very long," Coroner Kelly said. He had been in ill health for the past several years under the care of Dr. Peter F. Lordi of Highland. The lunch which had been brought to his room was found untouched.

Minkler, formerly of Tivoli, was esteemed by the DiPrimas, it was said, and often went south with the family. His wife died in 1936.

The body was taken to Kelly Funeral Home in Kingston. Highland state police assisted Coroner Kelly in the investigation.

Tooth Brushing Necessary

There is strong evidence to indicate that tooth infection is more apt to occur if the teeth are not cleaned promptly after meals, and especially after consuming sweetened soft drinks, says the General Electric research laboratory.

Storm Grounds UN Planes in Korea

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 3 (AP)—A tropical storm today grounded UN warplanes and lashed infantrymen on the Korean battlefront with up to 3½ inches of rain.

U. S. Fifth Air Force headquarters reported only weather reconnaisance planes took off.

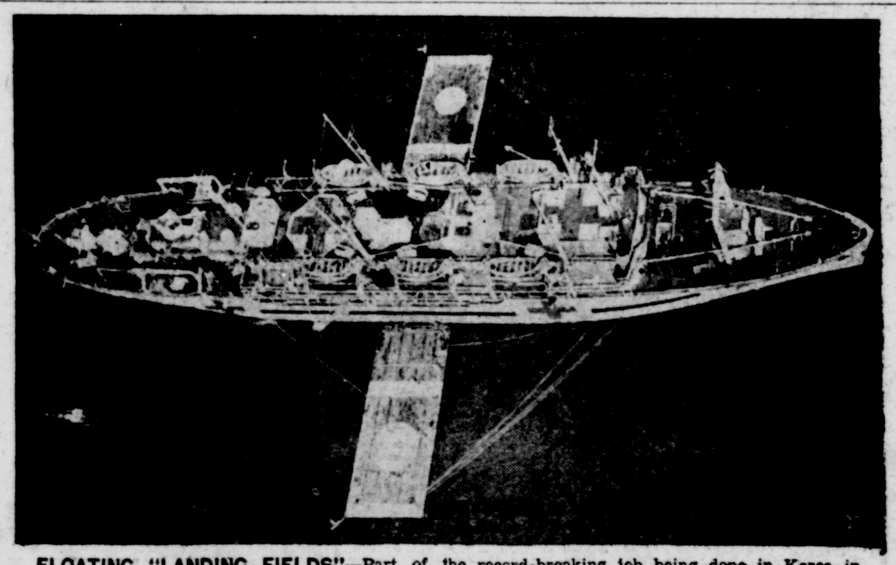

Allied fighter-bombers yesterday bombed an airfield near Sinanju which the Fifth Air Force said the Communists were rebuilding. The Sinanju field lies about 155 miles north of the western front and would give Red jet pilots a base within range of the front.

Pilots reported 70 direct bomb hits on the runway. They did not see any Red planes, the air force added.

The storm battered Seoul during the night as it moved northward. An army weather officer said wind gusts reached a velocity of about 69 miles an hour.

Wood Beams Replace Steel

North Bay, Canada (AP) — The steel shortage didn't worry contractors on a new bank building here. To support the floor they used beams made of glued pieces of British Columbia fir, 9 by 16 inches and 20 feet long with similar but longer beams for the roof.

FLOATING "LANDING FIELDS"—Part of the record-breaking job being done in Korea in bringing casualties safely to hospitalization is due to such ingenious devices as the floating platforms seen moored to the hospital ship U.S.S. Haven. Helicopters, carrying wounded from the battlefields, land on these and the casualties are quickly taken into the ship's hospital quarters.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 3 (AP)—The stock market clung today to its pattern of cautious improvement.

Gains among leading issues ran to as much as a point or more, while losses generally were held to small fractions.

Activity picked up a bit, hitting a rate of more than a million shares a day during the morning trading hours. Yesterday's total was 970,000 shares.

Some of the better gains were listed for radio-TV, chemical, petroleum, rubber and aircraft issues. Several low-priced stocks received attention at times.

The increased volume was encouraging to those looking for a new test of the year's average highs. The market has edged narrowly upward for the past four sessions, but trading has been at an apathetic less-than-a-million pace.

Reaching higher levels today were Dow Chemical, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Zenith Radio, Admiral, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Standard Oil (N. J.), Santa Fe, Goodrich, American Smelting, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Chrysler, General Motors, Continental Motors, Willys-Overland, Roan Antelope, and United Gas.

Depressed at times were American Tobacco, American Can, McIntyre Porcupine, Phelps Dodge, National Distillers, Sears Roebuck and United Air Lines.

Corporate bonds developed only small changes. U. S. Government issues were steady in over-the-counter trading.

$500,000 Asked to Repair Schoharie Dam Spillway

Foundation Play Set for October

Woodstock, Sept. 3—The Woodstock Foundation will offer a double-barreled attraction at its annual benefit show to take place Friday and Saturday evenings, Oct. 10 and 11, at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Houston Richards has selected Ten Nights in a Barroom or the Fallen Saved, a gaudy melodrama about the redemption of the town drunk, as the stage presentation.

The play will be preceded by a town picnic on the lawn of the Playhouse presided over by Wilna Hervey and Nan Mason, whose parties are one of the traditional highlights of the Woodstock art colony. There will be sideshow attractions, music and games to give the party an authentic carnival spirit. Guests are invited to bring their own picnic baskets. There will be hot dogs, roasted corn and other native delicacies available.

Richards, who will direct Ten Nights in a Barroom, has set the first tryouts for the play for Thursday night in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. He and Fritzi Striebel have investigated local talent and assembled 25 names. From this group, it is hoped that the 11 principal characters of the play will be selected.

Ten Nights in a Barroom is a laugh-filled melodrama first presented in New York in the '70s. It is, to quote its title page "a temperance drama" based on T. S. Arthur's novel. Its serious sentiments have proven hilarious to modern audiences. That is the reason for its choice.

Following a conversation with Sidney Berkowitz, president of the Foundation, the Messrs. Sainer and Weissman, owners of the Woodstock Playhouse, and Lily Turner, general manager, agreed to contribute the cost of renting the Playhouse for two nights to the Foundation.

Jerry Jerominek will design the posters and signs for the Foundation show. Al Bare will again do original woodcuts of the principal players. Skip Betz has joined the publicity committee for the show.

Menga Delights Concert Audience

Woodstock, Sept. 3—A total of $222 was derived from the Maverick Sunday Concert played for the benefit of the piano which was purchased last year for the Concert Hall. The final debt may now be paid off on the Maverick's piano, as well as insurance charges.

Many of those who attended Sunday's concert felt that seldom is the opportunity presented to hear genius in embryo, but here was presented a violinist of phenomenal talent. Robert Menga, who made his appearance Sunday, has every chance of ranking among the top artists of his day. His dexterity has the assurance of a veteran performer many times his seventeen years. His full-bodied tones, the purity of his intonation gave the illusion of the freshness and brilliance of a morning after a rain. His first two unaccompanied numbers displayed to the full how gifted Menga really is. He exhibited no tricks of the trade—just solid playing. In the Concerto B minor of Saint Saens, Miss Shirley Barsuk, pianist, joined Menga in presenting a fine rendition. Miss Barsuk was quite adequate in the accompaniment.

The second artist of the afternoon was Miss Gina Rifino, soprano. The art of singing has been presented very little this season and it was pleasant to hear Miss Rifino. She has a gracious personality and brought her interpretive skill into play with the three Brahms songs. The first Strauss song was changed to Allerseelen which she sang with restraint. The Caecilie was sung in English but it was not always easy to understand.

The last number, Concerto for violin, piano and string quartet was by Causson, a French impressionist. There was some fine ensemble playing in this composition. William Kroll and Joseph Wolman, of course, never disappoint in their performance, and with the other artists, Elizabeth Walker, violin, Nancy Heaton, violin, Shirley Bursuk, piano, Barbara Kroll, viola and Thaddeus Bruys, cello, the entire work was a joy. The last movement was a cascade of sound throughout.

String Group Has Benefit for Fund

Woodstock, Sept. 3—As is customary, at the end of every season, the Woodstock String Quartet gave a benefit concert for the Woodstock Recreation Fund, Thursday night, at the Woodstock Town Hall. Four Woodstock artists—Louise Zemlinsky, dramatic soprano; Ilse Sass, pianist, who has played with the Woodstock String Quartet several times this season; Hanus A. Schimmerling, composer, lecturer and pianist, whose string quartet was played by this group earlier this summer; and Alexander Semmler, composer, conductor, pianist, who was heard as pianist in the performance of his violin and piano sonata at the preceding concert—donated their services for this concert.

The Woodstock String Quartet—Sidney Harth, violinist; Teresa Testa, violinist; Irving Manning, violist; and Engelbert Roentgen, 'cellist—turned first to the Boccherini string quartet which so delighted the Woodstock audience when they performed it in July. It is in this early classical music that the Woodstock String Quartet particularly excels, and the Boccherini quartet was performed with clarity, sensitivity and delicacy. The Minuet was especially charming.

Schimmerling's settings of Czechoslovakian folk songs were a highlight of the evening. Although the songs displayed a great deal of variety, showing the Czech, Slovak and Hungarian influences, all exhibited vitality, both in the melodic line and in the accompanying harmonic structure. Madame Zemlinsky's interpretation of them showed great musicianship and was very much in character.

The third number on the program was Darius Milhaud's Suite de Concert for piano quintet, performed by Ilse Sass, pianist, and the Woodstock String Quartet. This work is composed almost entirely in the jazz idiom of the early 1920's, a style which has been exploited in music to the point of being outdated. Although the work is amusing, it seems unfortunate that the quartet should have chosen to repeat this composition this season. However it was well played, and Miss Sass should be especially congratulated on her performance.

Expresses Clarity

Alexander Semmler's second piano suite, composed in 1949, expresses great clarity and conciseness of style. With the exception of the Poem, the suite is brilliant in character, and comes to a climax in the last two movements, the Valse Caprice and the Toccata. Semmler's performance of his own work brought out the straight-forward honesty and crispness of the composition.

The last work on the program, Herbert Haufrecht's Square Set for String Quartet ended this last appearance of the Woodstock String Quartet this season, on a note of gaiety. Haufrecht is a well-known, young, New York composer who has already composed many works for piano and orchestra. The material for this particular work (which was originally written for string orchestra) was gathered in the countryside around Woodstock and Phoenicia. Many unusual folk dance effects are achieved through strumming the violin as a "uke," tapping the body of the instrument with the bow, and through use of harmonics, producing a harmonica-like effect.

The Woodstock String Quartet has been a great attraction in Woodstock this summer, and the Woodstock audience is looking forward to its next season. A particularly important feature of the Woodstock String Quartet is that it has brought a great deal of new contemporary music into the community.

Playhouse to Make Improvements in '53

Woodstock, Sept. 3—Following a party Sunday night at the Woodstock Playhouse for the members of the staff and the cast of the final play of the season, For Love or Money, A. L. Sainer and Wilwiam Weisman, co-owners of the theatre, summed up the summer's activities, the first for the new management.

The last five weeks at the Playhouse, according to Sainer, taken as a composite picture "exceeded our expectations." The best of the first four weeks was not as good, he said, as the least of the last five weeks. This, he believes, is a definite indication of an increasing interest in the Playhouse. "If we start off next year and make the same rate of progress, we will definitely have a successful season."

Among the improvements in the Playhouse planned for next season, Sainer announced, will be a new public address system which will be installed for the purpose of giving outdoor concerts before show time. A new switchboard will be constructed to improve the stage lighting.

Laugh Plays Popular

Both from the point of view of box office receipts and from various comments received by the Playhouse management, it has been determined that the most popular plays are those which make audiences laugh. This summer's most successful comedies, in order of popularity were Yes, My Darling Daughter, For Love or Money, and Petticoat Fever.

Harris declared also that they will continue with a policy of getting the best possible casts. Some of this year's players may be brought back next season.

"Everyone," he concluded, "was very happy living and working in this community, and everyone has been nice to us." He also thanked the press for its cooperation throughout the season.

Clambake Successful Despite Downpour

Woodstock, Sept. 3—A capacity crowd attended the clambake given by the Woodstock Fire Companies No. 1 and 2, at the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club Labor Day.

Despite the drenching downpour which "hampered the efforts of the firemen," they did a superlative job of serving up literally thousands of clams. Since many of the assisting firemen were required to work under a leaking outside awning, marshalling the clams into the kitchen, they went into official uniform for the event—boots, raincoats and firehats. One of the gloomiest Labor Days this village has been subjected to in some years, a large segment of the community enjoyed a fine feast and a lively day as the guests of the Woodstock Firemen.

Miss America Beauties Begin Trials for Title

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 3 (AP)—Fifty-two Miss America beauties take over center stage tonight after playing wallflower roles to bosomy, blonde screen star Marilyn Monroe yesterday.

The pretty pretenders to the coveted crown compete for all-important points in preliminary beauty and talent contests in Convention Hall.

A third will appear in evening gowns, a third in bathing suits and the rest will show the judges they can do more than look lovely by singing, acting or dancing.

There will be more of the same tomorrow night and Friday night until each girl has had a chance to appear in all three contests. The finals will be held Saturday night.

The girls were introduced to a cheering crowd of 150,000 in a colorful parade along the boardwalk yesterday but Miss Monroe's face and fortune filled most of the camera lenses.

The shapely blonde lanquished atop an open convertible car as parade grand marshall in a scanty, form-fitting black affair that featured a plunging "V" cut to the waist.

Gets Reindoctrination

Hong Kong (AP) — The Communist party newspaper Ta Kung Pao in Chungking, wartime capital of China, seems to have strayed from the party line with dire results for the strayees. A dispatch from Chungking says 90 per cent of the staff has been sent off to "reform school" for reindoctrination, and the circulation manager was marched off to Peoples Court. The dispatch said an office boy got the circulation manager's job and a couple of typesetters moved up to editorial positions.

Mrs. Robinson Is Jailed in Mineola; Bail Is Increased

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—A 48-year-old woman business executive has been jailed in an alleged $450,000 swindle of a Long Island bank after she failed to raise bail increased to $40,000.

Mrs. Lillian B. Robinson's bail was boosted from $10,000 yesterday when she was arrested on a new charge of forgery. She had been free on bond since her arrest last Wednesday, also on a forgery count.

The charges stem from the alleged swindle of funds from the Central National Bank of Mineola. She is accused of getting hundreds of loans for phony home improvement jobs in the past four years for her house products business.

On Basis of Charge

District Judge Paul Widiitz increased bail yesterday on the basis of the new forgery charge. Assistant District Attorney Harold Spitzer, asking the bail increase, said she had not been cooperating fully with authorities and that she had threatened suicide if certain matters developed in the probe.

Her attorney, Henry Poor, argued that she was suffering from a severe heart condition and that she has been cooperating.

Meanwhile, authorities have been questioning employes of the bank.

Today they may see the bank president, Walter H. Abel, who shot himself last Friday a few hours before he was to talk with investigating officials about the case. He had brought the complaint against Mrs. Robinson.

Nassau Hospital reported today that Abel's condition still was critical.

Errant Dealer Fined

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 3 (AP)—A shudder rippled through the courtroom today when a prosecutor told what Joseph M'Nelis had been seling as "pure Scotch." The recipe: One part real highland dew, two parts French brandy, three parts Danish whiskey. The judge fined the errant liquor dealer £320 ($896).

Mrs. Robinson Is Jailed in Mineola; Bail Is Increased

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—A 48-year-old woman business executive has been jailed in an alleged $450,000 swindle of a Long Island bank after she failed to raise bail increased to $40,000.

Mrs. Lillian B. Robinson's bail was boosted from $10,000 yesterday when she was arrested on a new charge of forgery. She had been free on bond since her arrest last Wednesday, also on a forgery count.

The charges stem from the alleged swindle of funds from the Central National Bank of Mineola. She is accused of getting hundreds of loans for phony home improvement jobs in the past four years for her house products business.

On Basis of Charge

District Judge Paul Widlitz increased bail yesterday on the basis of the new forgery charge. Assistant District Attorney Harold Spitzer, asking the bail increase, said she had not been cooperating fully with authorities and that she had threatened suicide if certain matters developed in the probe.

Her attorney, Henry Poor, argued that she was suffering from a severe heart condition and that she has been cooperating.

Meanwhile, authorities have been questioning employes of the bank.

Today they may see the bank president, Walter H. Abel, who shot himself last Friday a few hours before he was to talk with investigating officials about the case. He had brought the complaint against Mrs. Robinson.

Nassau Hospital reported today that Abel's condition still was critical.

Clubs Are Ordered Closed

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Two beach clubs at Milton Point, Rye, were ordered closed as a health precaution today pending the overhauling of a sewage system. They are the Aapawamis and Coveleigh clubs, adjacent to one another. Dr. William A. Holla, Westchester county health commissioner, said inspectors discovered that raw sewage was flowing into Long Island Sound from an overloaded septic tank at the Apawamis Club.

Less publicized but equally important are regular spinal examinations. Few parents realize the danger involved in small displacements of vertebra in the neck which place pressure on delicate nerve fibres—resulting in malfunction somewhere in your child's body.

Nerve flow from the brain channelled over the spinal nerves is necessary to run the body—just as electrical circuits perform necessary services in your home. If nerve flow is interrupted, organs supplied by those nerves fail to perform their proper function.

If your children are especially active, they absorb more than their share of falls. The concussion of such force frequently produces spinal misalignments.

You'll be agreeably surprised how rapidly your child responds to chiropractic care. Keep him healthy — see that he has a regular spinal examination.

Governor Urges Chop in Spending By State Bureaus

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Gov. Dewey, battling inflation in a presidential election year, today urged state departments to chop non-essential spending from their 1953-54 budget requests.

Faced with the state's second billion-dollar spending program, the governor charged that the "reckless policies of the federal government continue to feed the forces of inflation, which increase the cost of everything the state buys."

Dewey told department leaders, in a letter, that "this administration has never rejected genuine and pressing needs for new or expanded services required by its people." But he added:

"At the same time the people of our state expect that we shall continue to live within our resources."

The governor indicated he expected new demands for money.

"The funds to meet many of these needs must be found," he said.

Dewey submitted the state's first billion-dollar budget to the Legislature last winter. It totaled $1,092,902,772. The Legislature also approved a supplemental budget totalling $13,437,346, which boosted the current fiscal year's spending program to $1,106,340,118.

The job of preparing estimates for the new budget, for the fiscal year beginning next April 1, has been underway in state departments for several weeks. Department heads are scheduled to start ironing out their requests with the State Budget Director, T. Norman Hurd, on Nov. 13.

President Warms To Speaking and Looks Ahead to '56

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Truman looked forward eagerly today to his next "whistle stop" tour after his first strenuous, nine-speech, two-day stumping trip for Adlai Stevenson, whom he called a "wonderful candidate."

So enthusiastic was the President over his reception at rear platform tales in West Virginia yesterday that he assured crowds he is already thinking of campaigning for the Democrats again in 1956.

Truman's scheduled dedication of the Hungry Horse Dam in western Montana Oct. 1 likely will turn into another, longer "give 'em hell" tour of the interior by train. And he is ready to keep his special train running after that right up until election time.

It's up to the Democratic National Committee to pick up the check, as it did on the Labor Day trip to Milwaukee from which the President returned last night outwardly confident that the cost was worthwhile.

Truman opened up on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee. At Milwaukee he called him the "lonely, captive candidate" of GOP "special interests."

Calls Him Spokesman

And at Parkersburg, W. Va., yesterday he called him a "spokesman for selfish politicians" willing to risk atomic war with Russia by loose talk about liberating the enslaved peoples of eastern Europe.

Truman said one of Eisenhower's "masterminds"—aides said he referred to John Foster Dulles—"is perfectly willing to have the Republican party and the Republican candidate say things that increase the risk of war, simply in order to get votes."

The President called this "cruel, gutter politics."

Dulles, asked to comment by a reporter in New York, said:

"Last week in a debate with me, Mr. Averell Harriman, speaking for the Democratic party, said that our Republican program of liberation had been 'cribbed' from Democratic policies. Now President Truman says that liberation is 'gutter politics.' I wonder whether they got their wires crossed."

The Geneva Convention of 1929 was a revision of the Hague Convention of 1899 dealing with prisoners of war.

President Warms To Speaking and Looks Ahead to '56

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Truman looked forward eagerly today to his next "whistle stop" tour after his first strenuous, nine-speech, two-day stumping trip for Adlai Stevenson, whom he called a "wonderful candidate."

So enthusiastic was the President over his reception at rear platform tales in West Virginia yesterday that he assured crowds he is already thinking of campaigning for the Democrats again in 1956.

Truman's scheduled dedication of the Hungry Horse Dam in western Montana Oct. 1 likely will turn into another, longer "give 'em hell" tour of the interior by train. And he is ready to keep his special train running after that right up until election time.

It's up to the Democratic National Committee to pick up the check, as it did on the Labor Day trip to Milwaukee from which the President returned last night outwardly confident that the cost was worthwhile.

Truman opened up on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee. At Milwaukee he called him the "lonely, captive candidate" of GOP "special interests."

Calls Him Spokesman

And at Parkersburg, W. Va., yesterday he called him a "spokesman for selfish politicians" willing to risk atomic war with Russia by loose talk about liberating the enslaved peoples of eastern Europe.

Truman said one of Eisenhower's "masterminds"—aides said he referred to John Foster Dulles—"is perfectly willing to have the Republican party and the Republican candidate say things that increase the risk of war, simply in order to get votes."

The President called this "cruel, gutter politics."

Dulles, asked to comment by a reporter in New York, said:

"Last week in a debate with me, Mr. Averell Harriman, speaking for the Democratic party, said that our Republican program of liberation had been 'cribbed' from Democratic policies. Now President Truman says that liberation is 'gutter politics.' I wonder whether they got their wires crossed."

Four Are Arrested

New York, Sept. 3 (AP)—Four persons, one of whom was critically wounded by police as he sought to flee, were arrested early today in the mugging and robbing of a Seattle, Wash., merchant seaman. The seaman, James Richard Compton, 29, was robbed of $3 and a $75 watch. Police said they arrested the quartet as they attacked Compton in Central Park. Police said one of the suspects, Alvin Meek, 32, of New York, tried to escape from detectives at a station house. They said he ignored a warning shot and finally was felled by two police bullets. Meeks, John Donnelly, 16, of North Philadelphia, Pa., and two New York Negroes were booked on charges of assault and robbery and grand larceny.

Drift of Polar Ice

Explorer Cmdr. Donald B. MacMillan, reports the National Geographic Society, claims that a friend left his pants on the ice off Siberia in 1881 and they were found at Cape Farewell, Greenland, in 1884, indicating the drift of polar ice.

Negroes represent about a tenth of the population of the United States.

Seashore Stroll Ends as Tragedy

Long Beach, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Hand-in-hand the teen-age sweethearts waded along the seashore.

A huge wave and a treacherous undercurrent suddenly enveloped 18-year-old Paul Labiszak and 17-year-old Marion Petrushak yesterday as they chatted of their engagement plans.

"It tore our hands loose and we both went under," the Brooklyn girl sobbed when she reached shore.

Marion, who has a life saving certificate, said she managed to reach Paul and started pulling him to shore against the undertow. Two unidentified swimmers jumped in and relieved the exhausted girl of the boy she had kept afloat for 15 minutes.

But when she made shore, she learned that the two men had been forced by the current to give up the rescue of Paul. They, too, were exhausted and cut by rocks.

Lifeguards Swim Out

In the meantime, seven lifeguards swam out to search for the New York city youth and quickly found themselves in trouble in the swirling Atlantic.

Two coast guard boats, a guard plane and a police helicopter were needed to save the would-be rescuers.

Ashore the girl, a beautician, sobbed and insisted that she would have saved Paul if left alone.

The body of the young man, who planned to enter Long Island University as a pre-medical student this month, was not recovered.

Paul's address was Ozone Park, Queens. She lives in Brooklyn.

"It tore our hands loose and we both went under," the Brooklyn girl sobbed when she reached shore.

Marion, who has a life saving certificate, said she managed to reach Paul and started pulling him to shore against the undertow. Two unidentified swimmers jumped in and relieved the exhausted girl of the boy she had kept afloat for 15 minutes.

But when she made shore, she learned that the two men had been forced by the current to give up the rescue of Paul. They, too, were exhausted and cut by rocks.

Lifeguards Swim Out

In the meantime, seven lifeguards swam out to search for the New York city youth and quickly found themselves in trouble in the swirling Atlantic.

Two coast guard boats, a guard plane and a police helicopter were needed to save the would-be rescuers.

Ashore the girl, a beautician, sobbed and insisted that she would have saved Paul if left alone.

The body of the young man, who planned to enter Long Island University as a pre-medical student this month, was not recovered.

Paul's address was Ozone Park, Queens. She lives in Brooklyn.

Jacoby on Canasta

Signals in Canasta Will Help

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Are there such things as signals in Canasta?" asks a Kansas City correspondent. 'The other night we had a newcomer in our game. She was my partner and at a certain stage of a hand she added two wild cards to a meld of four queens.

"I paid no particular attention to this move, but the newcomer said that her play was a signal. Is this correct? If so, what is the meaning of such a signal?"

There are signals in Canasta, and the newcomer's play was a very well-known signal. It asks the partner to complete the canasta as soon as possible, promising that the singaler will then be able to meld out.

Here is a situation in which you might make this signal: Your side has melded three aces, three kings, and four queens. You hold two nines, three deuces, and one miscellaneous card (after drawing). What should you do?

If you make the canasta of queens with your three deuces and discard the one odd card, you will be left with a pair of nines. You cannot then meld out unless you get a nine or another wild card.

The best move is to add only two deuces to the four queens. You discard the odd card, and hold the two nines and a deuce. If your partner can add one queen or one wild card, thus completing the canasta, you will meld out at your next turn.

Of course, a signal isn't much good if it isn't recognized. And I must admit that it's pretty difficult to figure out the meaning of most signals if you've never seen them before.

This particular signal, however, is pretty clear. When you boost a meld up to a length of six cards you almost invariably request your partner to boost it once more into a canasta. If you have to use up two wild cards in the process, your need must be very urgent indeed.

Q—In the game of Samba, are you allowed to meld a sequence as part of your initial meld? For example, can you meld three aces with queen-jack-ten of spades for a count of 90?

A—Yes. This is a perfectly valid way to meld in Samba.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

JUMPING THE GUN—The sun was high and hot, the grass and the trees were green and the thermometer was in the eighties when the Allentown, Pa., YMCA's Men's Club decided it ought to get an early start on advertising its annual Christmas-tree-selling project. Hence the sign above and hence heroic Warren A. Shupp, club chairman, who volunteered to don the knit helmet and heavy fur coat for the picture.

BUTTERING UP THE QUEEN—Sculptor Ross Butler, of Woodstock, Ont., puts the finishing touches on his unique equestrian statue of Great Britain's Queen Elizabeth II. It's a life-sized representation done in butter, of which he used more than 1500 pounds. On display at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, the statue is kept under glass at a temperature of 40 degrees to prevent melting.

SITTIN' AND LION—At Thousand Oaks, Calif., 19-year-old Barbara Logan shows that when she tames a lion, he stays tamed. Shapely Barbara, a television singer, learned to tame the big cats when she was only 14 in her California home.

TENTALIZING—In Berlin, Germany, a pretty model dries herself off after a dip from her combination tent and rubber dinghy. The dinghy is divided into two equal parts to form the walls of the tent, while a canvas sheet, attached around the two halves, serves as top, back and front cover for the boat tent. After "roughing it" for a night, she simply folds the tent back to a dinghy and paddles home.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

ESCAPE BEFORE NIGHT!

A reader explains: "I have just started what I thought would be a very pleasant two-weeks vacation with friends who have a house in the country. But instead it has turned into a nightmare and I am appealing to you to let me know how I can get out of staying. Last night after I had fallen asleep I was awakened by something crawling over me. I jumped out of bed and put the light on and lo and behold—Bedbugs! I was horrified and wouldn't go back into the bed! I spent the night trying to sleep on a chair. I simply can't endure this for two weeks, so please, please tell me what I can do?"

Go out and telephone your family to send you a telegram asking you to come home. (Be very careful to examine your clothes as you pack them.)

When Employer Is Away

Dear Mrs. Post: I am personal secretary to a man who has gone to Europe. A wedding reception (with R.s.v.p. on it) has just arrived from a business associate for his daughter. I'm sure this man knows my boss is in Europe. What should I do about answering this . . . and about sending a present for my boss?

Answer: The invitation was probably sent in courtesy so your employer would know he had been on the list. But to make sure I think you had better explain that he is away. You would not, however, send a present unless this sending of presents or flowers is your customary duty, otherwise it would be very strange for you to take this upon yourself.

Lipstick at Table

Dear Mrs. Post. Please let me know if it is permissible to put lipstick on at the table in a first-class restaurant?

Answer: Yes. But do it as casually and as quickly as possible.

Cutting Wedding Cake

Dear Mrs. Post: After the bride and groom cut their first slice of cake who finishes cutting the cake for the rest of the guests?

Answer: A caterer's man—or else kind friends take turns.

Questions on wedding procedure are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-2. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 1[illegible] N. Y.

YWCA Has Exhibit At Fair in Syracuse

The local YWCA is represented at the New York State Fair in Syracuse with an exhibit which is part of the state YWCA booth. The fair opened on August 30 and will continue through Saturday.

A model of a hobby show booth is the local contribution and consists of a miniature display of the booths used in last year's hobby show, sponsored by the YWCA. Placed in the exhibit is a model of an artist at work, and a group of pictures and colored posters, descriptive of hobbyists in this area. Also included, is a photograph of the Junior Marrieds' husbands at work in constructing the booths for last year's show.

Because the annual fair attracts some 350,000 persons from all over the country according to the local YWCA board, it expressed the opinion that the exhibition "was in keeping with the city's tercentennial celebration," and expresed the hope that area visitors at the fair, will stop at the YWCA booth.

ESCAPE BEFORE NIGHT!

A reader explains: "I have just started what I thought would be a very pleasant two-weeks vacation with friends who have a house in the country. But instead it has turned into a nightmare and I am appealing to you to let me know how I can get out of staying. Last night after I had fallen asleep I was awakened by something crawling over me. I jumped out of bed and put the light on and lo and behold—Bedbugs! I was horrified and wouldn't go back into the bed! I spent the night trying to sleep on a chair. I simply can't endure this for two weeks, so please, please tell me what I can do?"

Go out and telephone your family to send you a telegram asking you to come home. (Be very careful to examine your clothes as you pack them.)

When Employer Is Away

Dear Mrs. Post: I am personal secretary to a man who has gone to Europe. A wedding reception (with R.s.v.p. on it) has just arrived from a business associate for his daughter. I'm sure this man knows my boss is in Europe. What should I do about answering this . . . and about sending a present for my boss?

Answer: The invitation was probably sent in courtesy so your employer would know he had been on the list. But to make sure I think you had better explain that he is away. You would not, however, send a present unless this sending of presents or flowers is your customary duty, otherwise it would be very strange for you to take this upon yourself.

Lipstick at Table

Dear Mrs. Post. Please let me know if it is permissible to put lipstick on at the table in a first-class restaurant?

Answer: Yes. But do it as casually and as quickly as possible.

Cutting Wedding Cake

Dear Mrs. Post: After the bride and groom cut their first slice of cake who finishes cutting the cake for the rest of the guests?

Answer: A caterer's man—or else kind friends take turns.

Questions on wedding procedure are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-2. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 1[illegible] N. Y.

YWCA Has Exhibit At Fair in Syracuse

The local YWCA is represented at the New York State Fair in Syracuse with an exhibit which is part of the state YWCA booth. The fair opened on August 30 and will continue through Saturday.

A model of a hobby show booth is the local contribution and consists of a miniature display of the booths used in last year's hobby show, sponsored by the YWCA. Placed in the exhibit is a model of an artist at work, and a group of pictures and colored posters, descriptive of hobbyists in this area. Also included, is a photograph of the Junior Marrieds' husbands at work in constructing the booths for last year's show.

Because the annual fair attracts some 350,000 persons from all over the country according to the local YWCA board, it expressed the opinion that the exhibition "was in keeping with the city's tercentennial celebration," and expresed the hope that area visitors at the fair, will stop at the YWCA booth.

Wiltwyck Motors Score Vital Victory Over Boulevard Gulf, 3 to 1

Digastino Gets Nod Over Magley; Lead by ½-Game

Jones Dairy-Merchant Contest Set Today

Wiltwyck Motors nailed down a vital City League victory yesterday with its 3 to 1 conquest of Boulevard Gulf behind Joe Digastino's two-hit hurling at the Athletic Field.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for the Highland aces who still hold a one-game margin over Jones Dairy in the loss column of the standings.

The Dairymen face a big challenge today when they tangle with the Colonial Merchants in a contest that may well settle the issue for the second half.

A Merchant triumph would be in the best interests of the Wiltwyck pennant hopes. It would send the Dairymen two games behind in the loss column.

Weather and ground conditions permitting, it should be veteran Tommy Fisher against youthful George Telepas in this "big one."

Bunch Two Hits

Digastino lost a shutout yesterday when the Gulfmen combined their two hits with an infield out for a run in the fourth inning. Digastino walked four and struck out the same number in getting the decision over George Magley.

Magley allowed only six hits but lost the ball game in the first inning when a bad throw by Ed Van Loan set up a two-run single situation by Kite.

Augie Passante walked and Tim Murphy was safe on a sacrifice play when Van Loan's throw went awry. That put runners on first and second with none out. They held firm on Bud Finn's tap to the box but Kite lashed a single through the middle to score Passante and Murphy for a 2-0 Wiltwyck margin.

Wiltwycks went ahead 3-0 in the fourth on three singles by Kite, Ed Passante and Trapani. Barringer and Bechtold launched the Boulevard fourth with successive safeties. Schryver's walk loaded the sacks and Lyons' chopped grounder was handled by Digastino too late for a play at the plate. Barringer scored on the play but Lyons was thrown out at first. That ended the scoring for both clubs.

Kite with his two singles was the only player on either side with more than one safety.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Leo Durocher's Giants, who must be giving serious thought to a rebuilding job on the 1953 pitching staff, might conceivably benefit by the addition of Clark Mains, the Port Ewen right hander who is the sensation of the U. S. Navy baseball circuit.

All this is predicated, of course, on the assumption that Clark is available next spring. The former KHS great (and he was the greatest pitcher in KHS history, if you go by the records)—has just completed another great season.

A few weeks ago, Clark pitched the USS Orion nine to a 5-1 victory over the USS Briareus in the finals of the Forces Afloat tournament at Norfolk, Va. Mains was in charge all the way, racking up a 4-hitter, and was selected the tournament's most valuable player.

On the strength of his service record, Mains figures to get placed as high as Double A, when he returns to the Giant spangles. He could be in New York livery by 1954. By that time Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen might be just pleasant memories to Giant rooters.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Congratulations to the FYL All Stars for their splendid showing in the National Junior baseball tournament in Bridgeport. Manager Joe Messinger and Coach Frank Reis did an able job with the youngsters, who displayed championship form each time out. Junior and Little League baseball is rolling beautifully in Ulster county and the fruits of their labors will pay off in future Kingston High School and area nines.

The Little League is an amazing story in itself.

The figures may sound slightly incredible, but Little League officials are convinced that in a couple of years the total of Little Leagues in America will pass the 5,000 mark. That means that 300,000 small fry will be engaged in organized competition in the 8-to-12 age bracket.

That total is not a goal, but merely a prediction made on the basis of league increases in the last few years. Few other sports programs in the history of the nation have grown as fast as Little League baseball. The pattern for the last four years has been the same—each year the total of leagues has more than doubled.

This year there was 1,676 fully-franchised Little Leagues and 112 franchised non-tournament leagues for a total of 1,788. This figure compares with 776 in 1951, 306 in 1950, and 197 in 1949, and 94 in 1948. The total of teams this year was 7,562 compared with 3,333 last year.

An even better gauge of the rapid growth is the fact that 150,000 boys 12 and under this summer were members of leagues in 44 states, two territorial possessions and Canada.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Fred Bayona, the former KHS track enthusiast, now stationed at the New London submarine base, reports terrific interest in softball among the trainees at the naval station. During one important series, even the umpires became over-enthusiastic and demanded a raise from $1.50 to $2.00 per game. They were promptly fired. Have you noticed a wavering on the part of Rocky Marciano supporters with respect to an early-round kayo over Pappy Joe Walcott on Sept. 23? As bout time approaches they start to wonder about Old Joe, the Great Black Father of Camden. Where they rave about the dynamite-laden fists of Marciano, Jersey Joe is content to take the bows on the greatest pair of legs in boxing. Even though a close examination of the Walcott record shows that the Miracle Man is a pretty fair counter puncher on his own. Ask Ezzard Charles or Joe Louis, who predict Walcott will clobber Marciano. There are some who might dispute Joe's right to claim the best legs in boxing but they have to show somebody who can do better for a man who is 38 years of age, going on forty-something, or any age, for that matter.

Didn't Walter Jackson, a Philadelphia shuffleboard hotshot, recently pin back the ears of James Duffy, champion of Ireland, 21-0, in a challenge match at Frank's Bar and Grill?

Question: There's one out, a man on first. As the pitcher begins his windup, the runner starts for second. He completes the steal before the ball crosses the plate. The catcher misses the third strike, but throws wildly to first base, and the batter easily makes the base. Shouldn't the batter be declared out?

Answer: Yes. The batter is not entitled to run to first base on a dropped third strike if first base is occupied. First base is presumed to be occupied on a dropped third strike, if it was occupied at the time the pitcher went into his windup. This is so even though the runner makes second base before the ball crosses the plate.

Blackwell Excels in AL Debut; Yankees Increase Lead to 3½

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees received a quick dividend on their $40,000 investment in Ewell (The Whip) Blackwell.

Five days following the purchase of the former National League star from the Cincinnati Reds, the Yankees last night sent Blackwell to the mound against the Boston Red Sox. And the long, lean righthander responded with a scoreless five-inning performance to rack up his first American League triumph.

Blackie was not the overpowering pitcher he had been in his days as a big winner with the Reds, but he looked quite capable before bowing out for a pinch hitter. He permitted four singles, fanned four and walked three before retiring because of weariness and the humidity.

It was in the fifth, the inning Blackwell left, that the Yankees ganged up on Boston starter Sid Hudson for all their runs to win the nightcap, 4-0, after rookie Tommy Gorman had hurled an eight-hit, 5-0 shutout over the Red Sox in the afternoon portion of the day-night doubleheader.

Five Straight

The two triumphs ran the Yankees' winning streak to five and increased their first-place margin over the idle Cleveland Indians to three and a half games. The slump-ridden Red Sox, who now have dropped seven of their last eight, all on the road, fell 8½ lengths behind the American League pace-setters. They have scored but one run in the last 36 innings.

Brooklyn's Dodgers, the National League leaders, fared exactly the opposite from the Yankees. They dropped a pair to Philadelphia's Phillies, 8-2 and 9-3, and were lucky to get out of the City of Brotherly Love in one piece. Two dozen Philadelphia hits plus splendid pitching by righthanders Robin Roberts and Karl Drews cut the Dodger's first-place lead over the idle New York Giants to eight games.

Chicago's White Sox climbed into fourth place vanquishing the Detroit Tigers twice, 6-5 and 7-4. Rocce Krsnich's two-run triple in the ninth won the opener. Marv Grissom won his 11th in the nightcap.

Washington's Senators, although held to three hits in each game, won a twi-night twin bill from Philadelphia, 3-2 in 10 innings and 5-0, to dump the Athletics into fifth place, only a half game in front of the Nats.

Sensational Debut

Mike Fornieles, Washington's 20-year-old Cuban righthander, pitched a one-hit shutout in his major league debut. A second-inning single by catcher Joe Astroth prevented the youngster from becoming the first pitcher in modern times to hurl a no-hitter in his first big league game. A walk to Jackie Jensen with the bases loaded in the 10th won the opener for Washington.

Fornieles shared the day's pitching with Blackwell, who received credit for a shutout victory although he needed help from another National League castoff, Johnny Sain. The ex-Boston Braves' righthander permitted only one hit in the last four mop-up innings.

Manager Casey Stengel wisely sent in a pinch hitter to bat for Blackwell when the Yankees loaded the bases on Hudson in the fifth. Johnny Mize, the pinch swinger, popped out but Mickey Mantle came through with a two-out single that drove in two runs and broke up the scoreless duel. Phil Rizzuto's single sent the other two runs over the plate.

Wiltwyck Motors Score Vital Victory Over Boulevard Gulf, 3 to 1

Digastino Gets Nod Over Magley; Lead by ½-Game

Jones Dairy-Merchant Contest Set Today

Wiltwyck Motors nailed down a vital City League victory yesterday with its 3 to 1 conquest of Boulevard Gulf behind Joe Digastino's two-hit hurling at the Athletic Field.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for the Highland aces who still hold a one-game margin over Jones Dairy in the loss column of the standings.

The Dairymen face a big challenge today when they tangle with the Colonial Merchants in a contest that may well settle the issue for the second half.

A Merchant triumph would be in the best interests of the Wiltwyck pennant hopes. It would send the Dairymen two games behind in the loss column.

Weather and ground conditions permitting, it should be veteran Tommy Fisher against youthful George Telepas in this "big one."

Bunch Two Hits

Digastino lost a shutout yesterday when the Gulfmen combined their two hits with an infield out for a run in the fourth inning. Digastino walked four and struck out the same number in getting the decision over George Magley.

Magley allowed only six hits but lost the ball game in the first inning when a bad throw by Ed Van Loan set up a two-run single situation by Kite.

Augie Passante walked and Tim Murphy was safe on a sacrifice play when Van Loan's throw went awry. That put runners on first and second with none out. They held firm on Bud Finn's tap to the box but Kite lashed a single through the middle to score Passante and Murphy for a 2-0 Wiltwyck margin.

Wiltwycks went ahead 3-0 in the fourth on three singles by Kite, Ed Passante and Trapani. Barringer and Bechtold launched the Boulevard fourth with successive safeties. Schryver's walk loaded the sacks and Lyons' chopped grounder was handled by Digastino too late for a play at the plate. Barringer scored on the play but Lyons was thrown out at first. That ended the scoring for both clubs.

Kite with his two singles was the only player on either side with more than one safety.

Leo Durocher's Giants, who must be giving serious thought to a rebuilding job on the 1953 pitching staff, might conceivably benefit by the addition of Clark Mains, the Port Ewen right hander who is the sensation of the U. S. Navy baseball circuit.

All this is predicated, of course, on the assumption that Clark is available next spring. The former KHS great (and he was the greatest pitcher in KHS history, if you go by the records)—has just completed another great season.

A few weeks ago, Clark pitched the USS Orion nine to a 5-1 victory over the USS Briareus in the finals of the Forces Afloat tournament at Norfolk, Va. Mains was in charge all the way, racking up a 4-hitter, and was selected the tournament's most valuable player.

On the strength of his service record, Mains figures to get placed as high as Double A, when he returns to the Giant spangles. He could be in New York livery by 1954. By that time Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen might be just pleasant memories to Giant rooters.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Congratulations to the FYL All Stars for their splendid showing in the National Junior baseball tournament in Bridgeport. Manager Joe Messinger and Coach Frank Reis did an able job with the youngsters, who displayed championship form each time out. Junior and Little League baseball is rolling beautifully in Ulster county and the fruits of their labors will pay off in future Kingston High School and area nines.

The Little League is an amazing story in itself.

The figures may sound slightly incredible, but Little League officials are convinced that in a couple of years the total of Little Leagues in America will pass the 5,000 mark. That means that 300,000 small fry will be engaged in organized competition in the 8-to-12 age bracket.

That total is not a goal, but merely a prediction made on the basis of league increases in the last few years. Few other sports programs in the history of the nation have grown as fast as Little League baseball. The pattern for the last four years has been the same—each year the total of leagues has more than doubled.

This year there was 1,676 fully-franchised Little Leagues and 112 franchised non-tournament leagues for a total of 1,788. This figure compares with 776 in 1951, 306 in 1950, and 197 in 1949, and 94 in 1948. The total of teams this year was 7,562 compared with 3,333 last year.

An even better gauge of the rapid growth is the fact that 150,000 boys 12 and under this summer were members of leagues in 44 states, two territorial possessions and Canada.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Fred Bayona, the former KHS track enthusiast, now stationed at the New London submarine base, reports terrific interest in softball among the trainees at the naval station. During one important series, even the umpires became over-enthusiastic and demanded a raise from $1.50 to $2.00 per game. They were promptly fired. Have you noticed a wavering on the part of Rocky Marciano supporters with respect to an early-round kayo over Pappy Joe Walcott on Sept. 23? As bout time approaches they start to wonder about Old Joe, the Great Black Father of Camden. Where they rave about the dynamite-laden fists of Marciano, Jersey Joe is content to take the bows on the greatest pair of legs in boxing. Even though a close examination of the Walcott record shows that the Miracle Man is a pretty fair counter puncher on his own. Ask Ezzard Charles or Joe Louis, who predict Walcott will clobber Marciano. There are some who might dispute Joe's right to claim the best legs in boxing but they have to show somebody who can do better for a man who is 38 years of age, going on forty-something, or any age, for that matter.

Didn't Walter Jackson, a Philadelphia shuffleboard hotshot, recently pin back the ears of James Duffy, champion of Ireland, 21-0, in a challenge match at Frank's Bar and Grill?

Brooklyn's Dodgers, the National League leaders, fared exactly the opposite from the Yankees. They dropped a pair to Philadelphia's Phillies, 8-2 and 9-3, and were lucky to get out of the City of Brotherly Love in one piece. Two dozen Philadelphia hits plus splendid pitching by righthanders Robin Roberts and Karl Drews cut the Dodger's first-place lead over the idle New York Giants to eight games.

Chicago's White Sox climbed into fourth place vanquishing the Detroit Tigers twice, 6-5 and 7-4. Rocce Krsnich's two-run triple in the ninth won the opener. Marv Grissom won his 11th in the nightcap.

Washington's Senators, although held to three hits in each game, won a twi-night twin bill from Philadelphia, 3-2 in 10 innings and 5-0, to dump the Athletics into fifth place, only a half game in front of the Nats.

Sensational Debut

Mike Fornieles, Washington's 20-year-old Cuban righthander, pitched a one-hit shutout in his major league debut. A second-inning single by catcher Joe Astroth prevented the youngster from becoming the first pitcher in modern times to hurl a no-hitter in his first big league game. A walk to Jackie Jensen with the bases loaded in the 10th won the opener for Washington.

Fornieles shared the day's pitching with Blackwell, who received credit for a shutout victory although he needed help from another National League castoff, Johnny Sain. The ex-Boston Braves' righthander permitted only one hit in the last four mop-up innings.

Manager Casey Stengel wisely sent in a pinch hitter to bat for Blackwell when the Yankees loaded the bases on Hudson in the fifth. Johnny Mize, the pinch swinger, popped out but Mickey Mantle came through with a two-out single that drove in two runs and broke up the scoreless duel. Phil Rizzuto's single sent the other two runs over the plate.

USGA Rules Boice-Van Aken Match Should Be Resumed

Final 18 Holes Set Saturday At Twaalfskill

Players All Even in 36-Hole Title Test

The United States Golf Association has ruled that the city championship match between Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill and Bill Van Aken of Wiltwyck should be resumed from the point of interruption by the Labor Day downpour.

The USGA decision means that Boice and Van Aken will tee off at 1 p. m. Saturday at Twaalfskill in the final 18 holes of the 36-hole playoff, with the match all even.

Boice and Van Aken struggled through 18 holes over rain-swept and water-soaked Wiltwyck Labor Day morning to finish all even. The afternoon round, scheduled at 2:45 p. m. at Twaalfskill, was canceled when the heavy rain flooded the greens and traps and inundated the fairways.

The question of whether the match should be resumed from the point of interruption or should be re-played in its entirety was raised by officials of the rival clubs. It was then decided to seek a ruling from the USGA, the supreme golf authority of the land.

A telegram to the USGA was drafted by N. Levan Haver, Twaalfskill Golf Club president, and Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., tournament chairman at Wiltwyck Golf Club. Dr. Holcomb served as referee for the morning round at Wiltwyck, while Haver was scheduled to act in a similar capacity at Twaalfskill in the afternoon.

The USGA based its decision on Rule 36-4c. The rule reads:

"Course Unplayable — If the Committee or its authorized representative consider that the course is not in a playable condition, or that insufficient light renders the proper playing of the game impossible, it shall have the power in match and stroke play to order a temporary suspension of play, or in stroke play to declare play null and void and to cancel all scores for the round in question.

When play has been temporarily suspended, it shall be resumed from where it was discontinued, even though resumption occur on a subsequent day. . . ."

18-Year-Old San Marino Tennis Ace Rated Biggest Threat to 'Little Mo'

Forest Hills, Sept. 3 (AP)—It isn't likely that anyone is going to beat Maureen Connolly in this year's National tennis championships—at least not before the finals. But a few of the fans scattered around the West Side Tennis Club already have had a look at the next Connolly.

She is Julie Sampson, 18, of San Marino, Calif., the newly-crowned National Girls champion, who caused some eye-popping and tongue-wagging yesterday by the way she disposed of Japan's woman champion, Sachiko Kamo.

Julie is a tall, thin reddish-haired girl who appears to be at about the same stage of tennis development as Miss Connolly was a year or so ago.

"Little Mo" went right on through to win the United States and Wimbledon championships and, incidentally, to win promotion from a copy girl to a regular job on a San Diego newspaper. She's favored to repeat this year and she has lost only one game in each of her two matches.

Has All Strokes

Miss Sampson didn't get started until yesterday because she was busy beating Mary Ann Ellenberger of San Diego for the girls title last week. So she got busy and beat Miss Kamo, 12-10, 6-4, in a first round match played down on a clubhouse court before few spectators.

Afterwards a tennis official remarked that Julie already plays well enough to be ranked in the first ten and should have been seeded for this tournament. Her long legs and long reach enable her to cover the court well. She has a good net game and powerful service. About all she needs is more experience. Miss Kamo, the first Japanese champion to come to this country, is a strong player and figured to reach the quarter-finals if she hadn't bumped into Julie yesterday.

The biggest doings in the men's division came in the gathering twilight of a hot day when Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., ninth-seeded American and a member of this year's Davis Cup squad, outlasted Denmark's champion, Kurt Neilsen, 6-2, 2-6, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Bankruptcy Petition

New York, Sept. 3 (Special)—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court here Tuesday by Matthew Babson of 2198 Cruger avenue, the Bronx, who formerly operated a grocery store in Ellenville. Also petitioning in bankruptcy with him is Murray Rudnick, 3445 Holland avenue, the Bronx. They had been in business up to April, 1952, as the M. and M. Grocery, 2712 Eighth avenue, New York. They list liabilities totaling $35,099 and no assets.

Candidates to Speak

Kasson-Dodge Center, Minn., Sept. 3 (AP)—"Open for Business" signs blossomed today around the huge circus-like tent city erected for the combined plowing-political contests coming to this south central Minnesota farming area Saturday. Operators of the establishments are mostly church groups. Their big business will come Saturday, when crowds estimated at up to 150,000 persons are expected to converge at "Plowville" to hear the next president of the United States. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican candidate for president, will speak at noon. Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, will mount the same stand four hours later.

Engle, Manfro, Massa Only Returnees; Coach Burke Switches to the 'Split-T'

Fifty-five bright and eager football candidates, most of them a bit on the small side, reported for Kingston High School's first practice of the season yesterday at municipal stadium.

Faced with the problems of installing a new system—the split-T—the earliest opening schedule in several years and a light and green squad that features only three returning lettermen, Coach Bill Burke was almost thinking out loud about 1954.

The three returnees are Bill Engle, a junior tackle; Pat Manfro, senior back; and Gene Massa, freshman sensation back of 1951.

Around fellows like Massa, who has two more years after 1952, and the young men coming up from the freshmen teams are built Kingston's hopes for the future.

With characteristic candor, Burke said he hoped Kingston would have a successful season this year but was optimistic about a year from now.

Small, Speedy Group

"Because of the size and speed of the squad, we felt that it would be to our best interests to install the Split-T this year," he said. "That means we have to change over everything in three weeks and be ready for the Sept. 20 opener against Mont Pleasant of Schenectady."

Behind Massa and Manfro, the Maroon is counting on developing two other starters from a group that includes Roger Billings and Kenny Kouhoupt as the top quarterback candidates, Orville Giles and Guy Crosby. Ronnie Crispino, who was rated a standout prospect, underwent an appendectomy a couple of weeks ago and will be lost for another three weeks.

Engle Bolsters Line

The line prospects in this predominantly junior squad are headed by Engle, a solid performer at right tackle. Coach Burke said he was inclined to leave Engle in the right tackle slot unless future developments necessitate a change.

Joe Tiano of East Kingston, John Graney and Leroy Scheffer, a giant-sized youngster built along the lines of Joe Berryann are the other tackle hopes. Burke has high regard for Scheffer, who weighs around 235 pounds and is fast afoot.

Louis Kuntz, a holdover from the 1951 varsity, heads the guard crop which lists among its most promising prospects Ray Gallo of Connelly, Bill Ritter and Tom Maines, a scrappy, watch charm type. Gallo played briefly in 1951 but left the squad because of death in the family.

Reis Center Candidate

Frank Reis, the brilliant young baseball pitching prospect, is listed with Richard LeFevre of Port Ewen and William Glennon of Kingston among the center candidates. Reis did not attend the early drills but sent word he expected to compete for a center berth.

The starting ends will be selected from a group of five candidates, among them the track star, Charlie Johnson. Besides Johnson, the list numbers Ronald Hooper, Fred Jackson, John Armstrong.

From the above mentioned names will come the 1952 varsity but there is a possibility that a few players not mentioned in the first ratings can crash through for a starting or substitute role with the varsity.

Kingston High opens its 1952 season with a Saturday night game (Sept. 20) against powerful Mont Pleasant of Schenectady.

Workouts will continue daily at municipal stadium starting at approximately 3:45 p. m.

STOPS GENERAL—At Camp McCoy, Wis., Cpl. Bernard B. Wascher of Clinton, Ia., above, was assigned to guard a road and ordered to let "no one" pass. Along came a motor convoy carrying four full companies. Corporal Wascher stopped it cold. Noncoms argued. Company commanders argued. Battalion officers argued. No dice. Finally Maj.-Gen. Ray Cam Fountain tried to pass. Still no dice. Someone checked Corporal Wascher's orders and found he'd been posted on the wrong road. After that, everybody passed and the general officially commended the corporal "for the attention to duty and soldierly qualities exhibited by you."

Louis Kuntz, a holdover from the 1951 varsity, heads the guard crop which lists among its most promising prospects Ray Gallo of Connelly, Bill Ritter and Tom Maines, a scrappy, watch charm type. Gallo played briefly in 1951 but left the squad because of death in the family.

Reis Center Candidate

Frank Reis, the brilliant young baseball pitching prospect, is listed with Richard LeFevre of Port Ewen and William Glennon of Kingston among the center candidates. Reis did not attend the early drills but sent word he expected to compete for a center berth.

The starting ends will be selected from a group of five candidates, among them the track star, Charlie Johnson. Besides Johnson, the list numbers Ronald Hooper, Fred Jackson, John Armstrong.

From the above mentioned names will come the 1952 varsity but there is a possibility that a few players not mentioned in the first ratings can crash through for a starting or substitute role with the varsity.

Kingston High opens its 1952 season with a Saturday night game (Sept. 20) against powerful Mont Pleasant of Schenectady.

Workouts will continue daily at municipal stadium starting at approximately 3:45 p. m.

STOPS GENERAL—At Camp McCoy, Wis., Cpl. Bernard B. Wascher of Clinton, Ia., above, was assigned to guard a road and ordered to let "no one" pass. Along came a motor convoy carrying four full companies. Corporal Wascher stopped it cold. Noncoms argued. Company commanders argued. Battalion officers argued. No dice. Finally Maj.-Gen. Ray Cam Fountain tried to pass. Still no dice. Someone checked Corporal Wascher's orders and found he'd been posted on the wrong road. After that, everybody passed and the general officially commended the corporal "for the attention to duty and soldierly qualities exhibited by you."

Relates Atrocity To Bishop Ending In Death by Reds

Hong Kong, Sept. 3 (AP)—A Catholic sister today said Chinese Communists heaped indignities on Maryknoll Bishop Francis X. Ford and —before his death on Feb. 21 —forced him to undress before her in a Canton prison.

Sister Joan Marie Ryan, in serious condition herself after two years in prison, brought the first word of the 60-year-old bishop's death.

Ford, a native of Brooklyn and a veteran of 34 years service in China, and Sister Ryan, his sercetary, also of Brooklyn, were placed under house arrest on Dec. 23, 1950, at Mei-Hsien, Kwangtung province.

On April 14, 1951, they were charged with spying and were started on a tortuous 210-mile trip to a Canton prison.

The Sister related:

Their bus stopped at a village, Hinning, and the Reds tied Ford with ropes and led him about the town.

Beaten by Students

Students beat him with ropes, sticks, stones and refuse. He was knocked down sveral times, but each time arose and—calmly and with dignity—walked on.

The students were so out of control that the guards fled and she and the bishop had to return to the bus depot unattended.

At a second village the guards bound Ford with wet ropes which contracted as they dried.

She said the final humiliation was in the Canton Prison — the Reds forced him to undress before her.

Sister Ryan said she saw him four times in prison up to Feb. 1 and he was "appallingly emaciated and unable to walk."

Sister Ryan said that on Aug. 16 she was shown a death certificate ascribing Ford's death to old age and natural causes.

Monday the Reds took her to a grave, told her the bishop was buried there, and forced her to sign a document saying Ford died of natural causes.

Conditions Improving

The condition of two 20-year-old Brooklyn youths, injured Tuesday morning when the brake on their bicycle failed as they came down the Minnewaska Trail to Kerhonkson village, was reported to be "improving" today at Kingston Hospital. The cycle was being operated by Murry Apelbaum, 153 Hewes street, Brooklyn, with Paul Steinberg, 222 Hewes street, Brooklyn, riding on the handlebars when it went out of control, crashed into a guard rail and threw the youths into a narrow driveway between the Brown drug store and the Seigel grocery store.

Girl Reported Taken

Berlin, Sept. 3 (AP)—Two Russian tommygunners crossed the border into the French sector shortly after noon today, fired two shots in the air and dragged a young girl back with them into the Russian zone, police reported. A man who was collecting firewood in the area described the incident to West Berlin police. He said the girl, who appeared about 17 years old, had just crossed into the French sector from the East zone. The Russians also tried to arrest him, but he managed to get away, the man told police.

Seeks Better Air Fields

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Truman today ordered into immediate effect a long-range program aimed at giving the United States more and better air fields. The program was embodied in recommendations made to the President by a special commission headed by James H. Doolittle, World War 2 flying hero. The commission was set up shortly after three air disasters occurred in rapid-fire succession at Elizabeth, N. J.

Drivers Too Smart

Vancouver, Canada (AP)—A driving instructor here suggested that "dumber persons" make better drivers. "Once the dumb student grasps the mechanics of driving he remembers them," he said. "It's the brainy ones that give us the trouble."

140-Mile Winds Reported at Sea

Miami, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP)—Gusts of wind estimated at 140 miles per hour were reported today in the severe Atlantic hurricane swirling northwestward in open ocean 800 miles east of Miami.

The 11 a. m. (EST) advisory said the tropical disturbance probably would continue the present course for the next 12 hours, "with possible intensification."

Forward speed was estimated by a hurricane hunting plane at 12 to 14 miles per hour.

Savage sustained winds of 115 miles per hour were registered near the center of the severe storm.

Hurrican force winds—75 miles per hour or more—extended outward 75 miles in the northern semi-circle. The terriffic 140 mile per hour gusts were located in this quadrant.

All shipping in the path of the hurricane—the second of the season—was told to get out of the way in a hurry.

Trawlers Drop Anchor

Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 3 (AP) — Seven Russian fishing trawlers anchored last night off the North Atlantic Faeroe Islands and a Danish admiralty spokesman said it might be due to imminence of western naval maneuvers in the area or the Russians "might also have other reasons." Part of "Operation Mainbrace," the big NATO maneuvers beginning Sept. 12, will be held in the waters between Norway and the Danish-owned Faeroes, 400 miles west of Norway. The commander of the Danish Naval Station at Thorshavn reported he saw no reason to take any measures because of the Russian arrival.

1,500 Go on Strike

New York, Sept. 3 (AP) — Approximately 1,500 workers in 14 small ship repair yards in Brooklyn struck today. "Every one of the yards is shut down," said Joseph Cardinal, chairman of Shipyard Associates, a company group. Picket lines formed around most of the yards, known in marine circles as "shore shops." The walkout came after wage negotiations reached a deadlock last night. The companies and six unions, represented by the AFL Marine Trades Council, had been bargaining since last February.

Police Open Fire

Bombay, India, Sept. 3 (AP)—Police opened fire today on a group of student demonstrators in Hyderabad, killing one and wounding four others. Hyderabad is the capital of the state of the same name in south central India. It has been a hotbed of Communist activity. The students were protesting the recruitment of non-residents of Hyderabad to fill state government posts.

Landing Is Refused

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 3 (AP)—Cuban immigration authorities said today they had refused to permit Alexander Melnikov, a Soviet diplomat, and his wife to disembark from the Italian ship Francesco Morosini. The Melnikovs are en route to Mexico. Other passengers left the ship for a tour of Havana. The ship is sailing today for Vera Cruz. Cuba broke off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union last April.

Frost kills all varieties of corn.

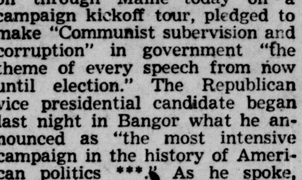

Nixon Hits Corruption

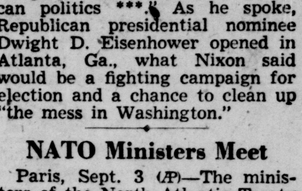

Rockland, Me., Sept. 3 (AP)—Senator Richard M. Nixon moves on through Maine today on a campaign kickoff tour, pledged to make "Communist subervision and corruption" in government "the theme of every speech from now until election." The Republican vice presidential candidate began last night in Bangor what he announced as "the most intensive campaign in the history of American politics ." As he spoke, Republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower opened in Atlanta, Ga., what Nixon said would be a fighting campaign for election and a chance to clean up "the mess in Washington."

NATO Ministers Meet

Paris, Sept. 3 (AP)—The ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will meet in Paris about Dec. 15, NATO announced today.

Relates Atrocity To Bishop Ending In Death by Reds

Hong Kong, Sept. 3 (AP)—A Catholic sister today said Chinese Communists heaped indignities on Maryknoll Bishop Francis X. Ford and —before his death on Feb. 21 —forced him to undress before her in a Canton prison.

Sister Joan Marie Ryan, in serious condition herself after two years in prison, brought the first word of the 60-year-old bishop's death.

Ford, a native of Brooklyn and a veteran of 34 years service in China, and Sister Ryan, his sercetary, also of Brooklyn, were placed under house arrest on Dec. 23, 1950, at Mei-Hsien, Kwangtung province.

On April 14, 1951, they were charged with spying and were started on a tortuous 210-mile trip to a Canton prison.

The Sister related:

Their bus stopped at a village, Hinning, and the Reds tied Ford with ropes and led him about the town.

Beaten by Students

Students beat him with ropes, sticks, stones and refuse. He was knocked down sveral times, but each time arose and—calmly and with dignity—walked on.

The students were so out of control that the guards fled and she and the bishop had to return to the bus depot unattended.

At a second village the guards bound Ford with wet ropes which contracted as they dried.

She said the final humiliation was in the Canton Prison — the Reds forced him to undress before her.

Sister Ryan said she saw him four times in prison up to Feb. 1 and he was "appallingly emaciated and unable to walk."

Sister Ryan said that on Aug. 16 she was shown a death certificate ascribing Ford's death to old age and natural causes.

Monday the Reds took her to a grave, told her the bishop was buried there, and forced her to sign a document saying Ford died of natural causes.

Conditions Improving

The condition of two 20-year-old Brooklyn youths, injured Tuesday morning when the brake on their bicycle failed as they came down the Minnewaska Trail to Kerhonkson village, was reported to be "improving" today at Kingston Hospital. The cycle was being operated by Murry Apelbaum, 153 Hewes street, Brooklyn, with Paul Steinberg, 222 Hewes street, Brooklyn, riding on the handlebars when it went out of control, crashed into a guard rail and threw the youths into a narrow driveway between the Brown drug store and the Seigel grocery store.

Girl Reported Taken

Berlin, Sept. 3 (AP)—Two Russian tommygunners crossed the border into the French sector shortly after noon today, fired two shots in the air and dragged a young girl back with them into the Russian zone, police reported. A man who was collecting firewood in the area described the incident to West Berlin police. He said the girl, who appeared about 17 years old, had just crossed into the French sector from the East zone. The Russians also tried to arrest him, but he managed to get away, the man told police.

Seeks Better Air Fields

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Truman today ordered into immediate effect a long-range program aimed at giving the United States more and better air fields. The program was embodied in recommendations made to the President by a special commission headed by James H. Doolittle, World War 2 flying hero. The commission was set up shortly after three air disasters occurred in rapid-fire succession at Elizabeth, N. J.

Drivers Too Smart

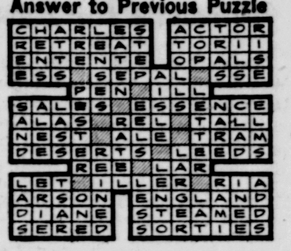

Vancouver, Canada (AP)—A driving instructor here suggested that "dumber persons" make better drivers. "Once the dumb student grasps the mechanics of driving he remembers them," he said. "It's the brainy ones that give us the trouble."

140-Mile Winds Reported at Sea

Miami, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP)—Gusts of wind estimated at 140 miles per hour were reported today in the severe Atlantic hurricane swirling northwestward in open ocean 800 miles east of Miami.

The 11 a. m. (EST) advisory said the tropical disturbance probably would continue the present course for the next 12 hours, "with possible intensification."

Forward speed was estimated by a hurricane hunting plane at 12 to 14 miles per hour.

Savage sustained winds of 115 miles per hour were registered near the center of the severe storm.

Hurrican force winds—75 miles per hour or more—extended outward 75 miles in the northern semi-circle. The terriffic 140 mile per hour gusts were located in this quadrant.

All shipping in the path of the hurricane—the second of the season—was told to get out of the way in a hurry.

Trawlers Drop Anchor

Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 3 (AP) — Seven Russian fishing trawlers anchored last night off the North Atlantic Faeroe Islands and a Danish admiralty spokesman said it might be due to imminence of western naval maneuvers in the area or the Russians "might also have other reasons." Part of "Operation Mainbrace," the big NATO maneuvers beginning Sept. 12, will be held in the waters between Norway and the Danish-owned Faeroes, 400 miles west of Norway. The commander of the Danish Naval Station at Thorshavn reported he saw no reason to take any measures because of the Russian arrival.

1,500 Go on Strike

New York, Sept. 3 (AP) — Approximately 1,500 workers in 14 small ship repair yards in Brooklyn struck today. "Every one of the yards is shut down," said Joseph Cardinal, chairman of Shipyard Associates, a company group. Picket lines formed around most of the yards, known in marine circles as "shore shops." The walkout came after wage negotiations reached a deadlock last night. The companies and six unions, represented by the AFL Marine Trades Council, had been bargaining since last February.

Police Open Fire

Bombay, India, Sept. 3 (AP)—Police opened fire today on a group of student demonstrators in Hyderabad, killing one and wounding four others. Hyderabad is the capital of the state of the same name in south central India. It has been a hotbed of Communist activity. The students were protesting the recruitment of non-residents of Hyderabad to fill state government posts.

Landing Is Refused

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 3 (AP)—Cuban immigration authorities said today they had refused to permit Alexander Melnikov, a Soviet diplomat, and his wife to disembark from the Italian ship Francesco Morosini. The Melnikovs are en route to Mexico. Other passengers left the ship for a tour of Havana. The ship is sailing today for Vera Cruz. Cuba broke off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union last April.

Nixon Hits Corruption

Rockland, Me., Sept. 3 (AP) — Senator Richard M. Nixon moves on through Maine today on a campaign kickoff tour, pledged to make "Communist subervision and corruption" in government "the theme of every speech from now until election." The Republican vice presidential candidate began last night in Bangor what he announced as "the most intensive campaign in the history of American politics ." As he spoke, Republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower opened in Atlanta, Ga., what Nixon said would be a fighting campaign for election and a chance to clean up "the mess in Washington."

Warmer September Forecast for East

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Weather Bureau expects September will be a little warmer than usual on the east and west coasts, but a little cooler than normal in the central part of the country.

In a forecast yesterday it said:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for September calls for temperatures to average above normal in the eastern quarter of the country and west of the Continental Divide, with greatest departures in New England and the southwest. Below normal temperatures are predicted for the central part of the nation, with the coolest weather in the northern plains. In Texas and the lower Mississippi valley temperatures are expected to average near seasonal normals.

"Rainfall is expected to exceed seasonal normals over most of the eastern half of the nation and in the northern and central plains. Subnormal amounts are expected in west Texas and west of the Continental Divide."

Stevenson Might

man, for the time being at least, his headquarters indicated.

The governor already has presented his views, in New York, on civil rights, and in Detroit he came out against the Taft-Hartley Act, advocating a broad new labor law to replace it.

The farm policy speech comes next, his campaign leaders said.

He is expected to deliver it Saturday at the National Plowing Contest in Kasson, Minn. From there, his route will take him through Wyoming and Montana to the Pacific coast. In a series of speeches in the west he plans to expand further the program to be presented at Kasson.

A group of officers of the Committee for Agricultural Progress were in Springfield today for conferences with the governor on the agriculture policy speech.

Among them was John S. Watson, Petaluma, Calif., agricultural consultant to the Democratic platform committee. Watson is state chairman of the Committee for Agricultural Progress. The others were Alfred R. Barnes of Huron, S. D., and Ben Strong and Robert E. Allen of Chicago.

Stevenson told the American Legion in New York last week that he would resist pressure from veterans organizations if he thought their demands conflicted with the national interests. And in Detroit, he emphasized the inter-dependence of all groups of workers. If he follows the same pattern in the speech on agriculture he may tell the farmers that their interests, while fully safeguarded, must at the same time conform to the larger interests of the American people.

818 Seek Release

coming into effect of the peace treaty."

Says Motive Served

He said he believed the purpose of the war crimes trials "was the desire, perhaps, to prevent war and, even if there is another war, to prevent atrocities. I believe that the motive has been served."

Ten of the 12 Class A prisoners —two were in the prison hospital suffering from ulcers—met reporters, genially, in their area on the top floor of the prison.

Each has a small room. They mingle as they please, and their doors never are locked. All are more than 60 years old, but they seemed in good condition.

Okinori Kaya, former Japanese minister of finance, smiled affably as he acted as a spokesman.

"We want the B and C war criminals released," he said, "but of course we too would like to get out. I would like to go home as soon as possible and play with my grandchildren."

The prison is lightly guarded. It has been operating since 1948 and there never has been an attempt at escape.

Today's news conference was arranged by the Japanese Government. A spokesman said the conference was decided upon after several foreign correspondents had asked permission to interview the prisoners.

Storm Is Felt Upstate

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—New York state mopped up today after windsped rainstorms that foretold the end of summer. The storms blustered across upstate New York yesterday, flooding highways, snapping power lines, tumbling trees on houses and contributing to at least two deaths. Glens Falls and three nearby villages were blacked out by power failures. The wind and rain were subsiding in most of the state today and partial clearing by nightfall was the outlook in most areas. However, heavy rains and gusty winds moved in on New York city after midnight. They were expected to cool the metropolis where sunny but humid weather had boosted the mercury to 88 yesterday.

Meter Collection Reported

The city treasurer's office reported $3,500 collected from local parking meters in August. This was $200 less than in July this year and $100 less than collected in August of 1951.

Until recent worldwide control measures including widespread use of DDT, malaria was one of the most deadly diseases in the world.

HIGH GEAR IN THE LAND OF FEAR—Newschart above shows past Russian industrial production and the ambitious goals set for the new Soviet five-year plan compared to U. S. production last year. The target is a 70 per cent increase in all heavy industry fields, with consumer goods industries again taking a back seat. At present the Soviet economy is 35 years behind ours. Russian steel production, for example, is now where ours was in 1915. As the Newschart indicates, the Soviets will have doubled their 1940 industrial potential if the goals are met.

Eisenhower's Stocks Boom in South

to cover up a "mess" of crime and corruption.

They cheered when he called for "common woodshed honesty" in government, and deplored the "whole sordid story" of corruption in the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

They applauded heavily when he said it wasn't enough to "change a face or two" in the administration and that: "No change of goods in the showcase can make the rotten goods back in the warehouse any better."

The Harder, the Better

And the harder he whiplashed the Democratic leadership in Washington, the better his listeners seemed to like it, if their applause was any measure.

Eisenhower hammered at corruption in government on this first drive into the south and he made it clear he had crossed the Mason-Dixon Line with hopes the south would support him in November.

He wound up his first day's tour speaking to a record 12,000 or more persons at the Bay Front Park last night, the largest crowd ever to hear any candidate speak in Miami. Other thousands had cheered him on his drive into the city and to Miami Beach.

The crowd was chanting "We Want Ike" as he stepped onto a brilliantly lighted platform and tore into the administration which in Jacksonville he had called a leadership of "stumble, fumble and fall."

Reads From Text

He read from a prepared text in which he promised that in the days to come he would outline the policies he would follow on problems of peace, inflation, labor, agriculture and cleaning corruption from government.

Eisenhower praised Republican Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware as a man who has been chiefly responsible for exposing wrongdoing in government. He pointed particularly to cases in the Boston, St. Louis and San Francisco tax collection agencies.

The crowd gave him perhaps his heaviest applause when he said: "There can always be one rotten apple in a bushel and it might be nobody's fault. But I can promise you this: If I should ever find a rotten apple in any barrel given to my care, it won't take me three and a half years to get rid of it."

And he added later: "I cannot tell you the whole extent of this corruption because there has been too much hiding and too little exposing by the responsible officials of government."

Touched by Receptions

Eisenhower obviously was tonched by the receptions in Atlanta, Jacksonville and Miami. He voiced his thanks for "a great day in my life" and for the "warmth and sincerity" of the welcomes.

Eisenhower and those around him got their first surprise in Atlanta where police estimated that close to 100,000 had turned out to cheer the Republican visitor.

Gov. Herman Talmadge and Atlanta's Democratic Mayor W. R. Hartsfield were among those to greet Eisenhower at the airport. The governor and mayor rode with him into the city.

Talmadge said Georgia too long had "been taken for granted" by the Democratic party and he had words of praise for Eisenhower as the man who probably could have had the 1948 Democratic presidential nomination "for the asking."

Eisenhower then scored what he called the "top-to-bottom mess" in Washington and he said Democratic Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson had admitted "his party has produced a mess."

No Partial Job Any Good

He added: "A 'refreshing' is not what we need. * * * A face lifting job won't do it, either. * * * The only clean-up that will do the job is a wholesale cleanout of the political bosses in Washington."

From Atlanta, Eisenhower flew to Jacksonville and the city downtown was jammed with a crowd which police estimated at 15,000.

And the Republican candidate told them: "I am down here for one purpose—to help get rid of the administration in Washington, an administration that has been living on emergencies and crises * * * it likes emergencies because out of them it makes the rugs * * * under which to sweep the evidence of their own errors and mistakes."

He rapped the administration for inflation and said: "They get money down to where it is in danger of becoming old shin plaster money. * * *

"I'm going to continue to talk about the Washington mess, a mess because we have got an administration of "stumble' fumble and fall.' * * * you can't keep the same gang there and put new faces on it, a re-paint job, or a face-lifting job. You have got to give it the works. You have got to clean out the bunch."

Hotter and Wetter

New York, Sept. 3 (AP)—August was a little hotter and wetter than the average August in the New York metropolitan area, the Weather Bureau said today. Average temperature for the month was 74.1 degrees—one degree above normal. Total rainfall was 5:87 inches—1.54 inches above normal.

essentially impossible in Russia or any other totalitarian state. There is no possibility of one man trusting another and integrating his efforts with any other man."

"There is no reward for cooperation. The only reward is for exposing someone, even in your own family. Any combination of effort comes under suspicion as a combination against the dictatorship."

In 1930, Proctor worked on building Russia's second largest dam, at Svirstroy east of Leningrad. In World War 2, he was an army engineer, a colonel, building the Persain Corridor Road from the Indian Ocean to funnel supplies to Russia.

No Confidence in Their Own

"The Russians have no confidence in their own engineers," he said, "and I have never met a Russian engineer who was a Communist who was any good."

Soviet jet planes are good, "but the Russians got the practical end of how to build them from Germans whom they took over."

"The Russians have brilliant physicists and mathematicians, brilliant purely in theory. In jet propulsion, they are probably ahead of us in theory. But theory alone doesn't produce an A-bomb, or an army, or morale.

"We've been bluffed and fooled into thinking the Russians have produced more than they have."

Russians Hate Dictatorship

Proctor said "I've been in all the Iron Curtain countries. And the greatest hatred of dictatorship and communism is among the Russian people themselves."

Engineers, he said, have changed the face of America in a century, and touched every phase of life, and engineering is partly responsible for America's huge productivity.

"Engineers are one essential in the partnership of management, risk capital, and skilled labor," Proctor said. "None can stand alone. All depends upon cooperation and mutual trust. We have that, Russia does not."

Some 30,000 of the nation's 450,000 engineers—civil, mechanical, military, electrical, mining, chemical and others—are expected to attend the meetings lasting through Sept. 13. There will be more than 1,000 reports on engineering.

The first large-scale coal mining operations in the icy archipelago of Spitsbergen were conducted in 1905 by an American, John M. Longyear.

Warmer September Forecast for East

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Weather Bureau expects September will be a little warmer than usual on the east and west coasts, but a little cooler than normal in the central part of the country.

In a forecast yesterday it said:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for September calls for temperatures to average above normal in the eastern quarter of the country and west of the Continental Divide, with greatest departures in New England and the southwest. Below normal temperatures are predicted for the central part of the nation, with the coolest weather in the northern plains. In Texas and the lower Mississippi valley temperatures are expected to average near seasonal normals.

"Rainfall is expected to exceed seasonal normals over most of the eastern half of the nation and in the northern and central plains. Subnormal amounts are expected in west Texas and west of the Continental Divide."

man, for the time being at least, his headquarters indicated.

The governor already has presented his views, in New York, on civil rights, and in Detroit he came out against the Taft-Hartley Act, advocating a broad new labor law to replace it.

The farm policy speech comes next, his campaign leaders said.

He is expected to deliver it Saturday at the National Plowing Contest in Kasson, Minn. From there, his route will take him through Wyoming and Montana to the Pacific coast. In a series of speeches in the west he plans to expand further the program to be presented at Kasson.

A group of officers of the Committee for Agricultural Progress were in Springfield today for conferences with the governor on the agriculture policy speech.

Among them was John S. Watson, Petaluma, Calif., agricultural consultant to the Democratic platform committee. Watson is state chairman of the Committee for Agricultural Progress. The others were Alfred R. Barnes of Huron, S. D., and Ben Strong and Robert E. Allen of Chicago.

Stevenson told the American Legion in New York last week that he would resist pressure from veterans organizations if he thought their demands conflicted with the national interests. And in Detroit, he emphasized the inter-dependence of all groups of workers. If he follows the same pattern in the speech on agriculture he may tell the farmers that their interests, while fully safeguarded, must at the same time conform to the larger interests of the American people.

818 Seek Release

coming into effect of the peace treaty."

Says Motive Served

He said he believed the purpose of the war crimes trials "was the desire, perhaps, to prevent war and, even if there is another war, to prevent atrocities. I believe that the motive has been served."

Ten of the 12 Class A prisoners —two were in the prison hospital suffering from ulcers—met reporters, genially, in their area on the top floor of the prison.

Each has a small room. They mingle as they please, and their doors never are locked. All are more than 60 years old, but they seemed in good condition.

Okinori Kaya, former Japanese minister of finance, smiled affably as he acted as a spokesman.

"We want the B and C war criminals released," he said, "but of course we too would like to get out. I would like to go home as soon as possible and play with my grandchildren."

The prison is lightly guarded. It has been operating since 1948 and there never has been an attempt at escape.

Today's news conference was arranged by the Japanese Government. A spokesman said the conference was decided upon after several foreign correspondents had asked permission to interview the prisoners.

been leased about six hours before the accident from the Cornwall Public Service Corp. of 236 Main street, Cornwall, Conro said.

A complete list of students on the bus at the time of the accident was not available this morning. Listed among passengers were Marlene Bandes and George Dahl of Eddyville and Susan Haber, Pat Haber and Helen Irwin, all of New Salem.

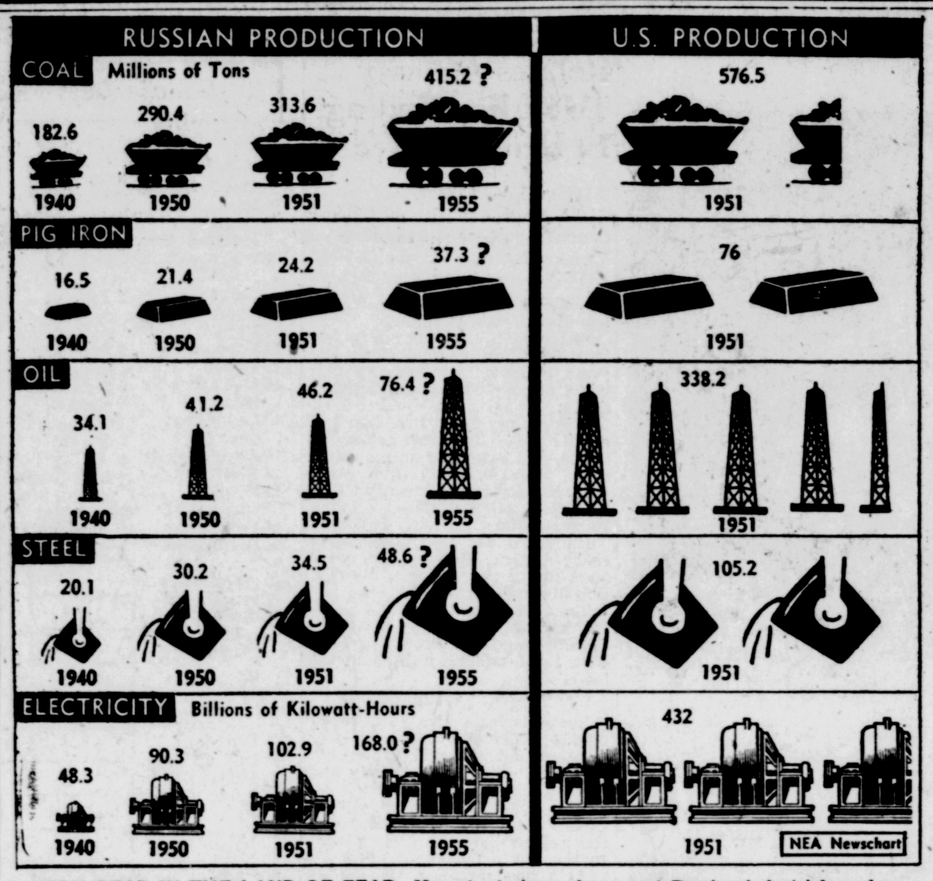

Storm Is Felt Upstate

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—New York state mopped up today after windsped rainstorms that foretold the end of summer. The storms blustered across upstate New York yesterday, flooding highways, snapping power lines, tumbling trees on houses and contributing to at least two deaths. Glens Falls and three nearby villages were blacked out by power failures. The wind and rain were subsiding in most of the state today and partial clearing by nightfall was the outlook in most areas. However, heavy rains and gusty winds moved in on New York city after midnight. They were expected to cool the metropolis where sunny but humid weather had boosted the mercury to 88 yesterday.

Meter Collection Reported

The city treasurer's office reported $3,500 collected from local parking meters in August. This was $200 less than in July this year and $100 less than collected in August of 1951.

Until recent worldwide control measures including widespread use of DDT, malaria was one of the most deadly diseases in the world.

HIGH GEAR IN THE LAND OF FEAR—Newschart above shows past Russian industrial production and the ambitious goals set for the new Soviet five-year plan compared to U. S. production last year. The target is a 70 per cent increase in all heavy industry fields, with consumer goods industries again taking a back seat. At present the Soviet economy is 35 years behind ours. Russian steel production, for example, is now where ours was in 1915. As the Newschart indicates, the Soviets will have doubled their 1940 industrial potential if the goals are met.

Eisenhower's Stocks Boom in South

to cover up a "mess" of crime and corruption.

They cheered when he called for "common woodshed honesty" in government, and deplored the "whole sordid story" of corruption in the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

They applauded heavily when he said it wasn't enough to "change a face or two" in the administration and that: "No change of goods in the showcase can make the rotten goods back in the warehouse any better."

The Harder, the Better

And the harder he whiplashed the Democratic leadership in Washington, the better his listeners seemed to like it, if their applause was any measure.

Eisenhower hammered at corruption in government on this first drive into the south and he made it clear he had crossed the Mason-Dixon Line with hopes the south would support him in November.

He wound up his first day's tour speaking to a record 12,000 or more persons at the Bay Front Park last night, the largest crowd ever to hear any candidate speak in Miami. Other thousands had cheered him on his drive into the city and to Miami Beach.

The crowd was chanting "We Want Ike" as he stepped onto a brilliantly lighted platform and tore into the administration which in Jacksonville he had called a leadership of "stumble, fumble and fall."

Reads From Text

He read from a prepared text in which he promised that in the days to come he would outline the policies he would follow on problems of peace, inflation, labor, agriculture and cleaning corruption from government.

Eisenhower praised Republican Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware as a man who has been chiefly responsible for exposing wrongdoing in government. He pointed particularly to cases in the Boston, St. Louis and San Francisco tax collection agencies.

The crowd gave him perhaps his heaviest applause when he said: "There can always be one rotten apple in a bushel and it might be nobody's fault. But I can promise you this: If I should ever find a rotten apple in any barrel given to my care, it won't take me three and a half years to get rid of it."

And he added later: "I cannot tell you the whole extent of this corruption because there has been too much hiding and too little exposing by the responsible officials of government."

Touched by Receptions

Eisenhower obviously was tonched by the receptions in Atlanta, Jacksonville and Miami. He voiced his thanks for "a great day in my life" and for the "warmth and sincerity" of the welcomes.

Eisenhower and those around him got their first surprise in Atlanta where police estimated that close to 100,000 had turned out to cheer the Republican visitor.

Gov. Herman Talmadge and Atlanta's Democratic Mayor W. R. Hartsfield were among those to greet Eisenhower at the airport. The governor and mayor rode with him into the city.

Talmadge said Georgia too long had "been taken for granted" by the Democratic party and he had words of praise for Eisenhower as the man who probably could have had the 1948 Democratic presidential nomination "for the asking."

Eisenhower then scored what he called the "top-to-bottom mess" in Washington and he said Democratic Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson had admitted "his party has produced a mess."

No Partial Job Any Good

He added: "A 'refreshing' is not what we need. * * * A face lifting job won't do it, either. * * * The only clean-up that will do the job is a wholesale cleanout of the political bosses in Washington."

From Atlanta, Eisenhower flew to Jacksonville and the city downtown was jammed with a crowd which police estimated at 15,000.

And the Republican candidate told them: "I am down here for one purpose—to help get rid of the administration in Washington, an administration that has been living on emergencies and crises * * * it likes emergencies because out of them it makes the rugs * * * under which to sweep the evidence of their own errors and mistakes."

He rapped the administration for inflation and said: "They get money down to where it is in danger of becoming old shin plaster money. * * *

"I'm going to continue to talk about the Washington mess, a mess because we have got an administration of 'stumble' fumble and fall.' * * * you can't keep the same gang there and put new faces on it, a re-paint job, or a face-lifting job. You have got to give it the works. You have got to clean out the bunch."

Hotter and Wetter

New York, Sept. 3 (AP)—August was a little hotter and wetter than the average August in the New York metropolitan area, the Weather Bureau said today. Average temperature for the month was 74.1 degrees—one degree above normal. Total rainfall was 5:87 inches—1.54 inches above normal.
